Coloma Township Missing $40,000 In Sewer Fund!

COLOMA — An approximate $40,000 shortage in Coloma Township's sewer fund was reported at the Township Board meeting here Monday night.

In a prepared statement, Township Supervisor Rodney Krieger, Jr., said "The Coloma Township Board has been informed by its auditor that approximately $40,000 of the monies collected for sewer tap and use fees from April, 1974, to August, 1977, cannot be accounted for and is assumed missing.

"Further auditing done by an independent auditing firm seems to verify the above shortages.

"As of today, the information has been turned over to the Berrien County Prosecutor's Office and the Michigan State Department of Treasury for further investigation."

According to Krieger, all township employees including sanitation, police, and administration have been ordered to cooperate with the investigation.

Robert Palmer, township treasurer, and head of the township's sanitation department, said after the meeting investigators are expected to begin the investigation into the missing funds Tuesday morning.

Palmer reported the township averages an income of $32,000 per month from sewer tap payments, unpaid tap interest charges and use fees.

The fund is the township's own sewer fund and is not part of the Paw Paw Lake Area Sewage Disposal Board, Palmer said. That board oversees the operation of sewage systems in Watervliet City and Township and Coloma City and Township.

Krieger said after the session that the shortage was found by auditor James Sullivan and was reported to officials Saturday. The audit began in June.

According to Krieger, the last completed audit of the sanitation fund covered the 1974 fiscal year.

During the meeting, Krieger said he was sorry to have to report the incident, adding it is a "deplorable situation."

"I hope this problem can be resolved quickly," said Krieger.

In other areas, the board unanimously voted to deny a request to release just over nine acres of township property located off Ryno road for annexation to the city of Coloma.

After voting to deny the request filed earlier this year by two township property owners, Krieger said the board action should not be taken as board policy toward further annexation requests, but only a single request for annexation.

The board voted on the request after learning of the township planning commission's recommendation the

He'll Finally Get Purple Heart

World War I Medal 59 Years Late

HERBERT D. CROTHERS
Belated Purple Heart

ROCKFORD, Mich.(AP) — Once he convinced the U.S. Army he had done his duty, Herbert D. Crothers spent years battling for the medal owed him from a World War I wound.

"I felt I'd get it automatically. Besides, I didn't want to seem like I was bragging," Crothers, now 81, said in partial explanation of the long delay. "When you're young, you don't really think about medals. You think about getting out alive."

Friday, during a traditional Armistice Day ceremony in Grand Rapids, Crothers will receive the Purple Heart he earned 59 years ago.

Crothers, then a sergeant with M Company, 126th Infantry, 32nd Division, was wounded with mustard gas on Aug. 29, 1918 during the French Battle of Juvigny.

He came home after three weeks in a hospital and embarked on a 41-year career with Consumers Power Co. Crothers also found time to serve 16 years on Rockford's school board and six on the village council.

In 1974, he learned delayed medals were going to wounded Vietnam veterans and decided to check upon his own Purple Heart.

Crothers wrote the Army seeking his medal. The Army replied it had no record Crothers ever was in the military. He tried again and enclosed copies of his honorable discharge papers and a certificate he received from President Woodrow Wilson after being wounded in action.

But the Army still rejected his application since Crothers could not prove he was hurt by mustard gas, which qualifies for the Purple Heart.

Early this year, Crothers enlisted the aid of his Congressman and won at last.

"It was ridiculous," said Rep. Harold Sawyer, R-Mich. "Nearly 60 years have passed since the Battle of Juvigny. How was Mr. Crothers to prove now what kind of gas was used? Rather, we argued that it was incumbent on the Army to prove it was not mustard gas."

After nearly three more months of arguing, the Army surrendered.

Even now, Crothers will say little about his wound or his struggle to obtain the medal due him. He described both as "something personal," adding, "I don't want to make a big deal out of this. I wasn't any braver than anyone else in my company. There's only one difference between me and them. I'm still alive and kicking."

Ex-IRS Worker 'Depressed' Before Spree Fells Ten

By JOSEPH BONNEY
Associated Press Writer

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A former Internal Revenue Service auditor accused of wounding 10 persons in a citywide shooting spree was said to be depressed by unemployment and marital problems.

Four of the wounded were in critical condition today and paralyzed, maybe permanently, from spinal wounds, doctors said.

Carlos Poree, 35, had been acting differently since last Dec. 17, when he was fired from his $19,332-a-year government job, said his mother-in-law, Dorothy Broussard. The IRS will not say why Poree was fired.

Three weeks ago Poree's wife, Diane, 34, left him.

Diane and her father, Alvin Broussard, 61, were the first victims Monday. Shot at Broussard's house in a quiet section of uptown New Orleans near Tulane University, both are partially paralyzed with wounds of the neck.

Police said that after Poree shot them, he drove three miles to mid-city and gunned down eight apparent strangers.

Poree was booked with 10 counts of attempted murder, one count of resisting arrest, three counts of simple battery on police officers and one count of armed robbery — the alleged theft of a car at gunpoint.

Poree was hospitalized with serious eye injuries and several facial cuts suffered in a scuffle with police at the city jail.

Police Sgt. Tony Buonagura said Poree attacked an officer and that Poree's face hit the floor in the ensuing fight. Buonagura said the prisoner was not beaten.

Three tourists were wounded in a small French Quarter park after Poree allegedly stopped his car in the middle of Bourbon Street, walked into the park and fired his .38-caliber pistol.

In stable condition were Henry Luther, 67, Gadsden, Ala., and Richard Quarles, 26, Nashville, Tenn. Douglas Martin, 20, also of Nashville was in good condition.

Police said half an hour later and more than a mile away, Poree commandeered a car. A few minutes later, three other men were wounded, two of them critically, in the office of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, a large stock brokerage firm in the business district.

Two men walking by outside were shot on the sidewalk.

Robert Barrell, 45, of Metairie, La., and George Held of New Orleans were listed in critical condition with severed spinal cords. Barrell was paralyzed from the chest down; Held from the neck down.

In stable condition were Wesley Russel, 30, Kenner, La., wounded in the right eye; Allen Carlson, 30, Bay St. Louis, Miss., wounded in the chest; and Hans Andersun of Norway, wounded in the neck.

"He didn't say a word. It was just bang, bang!" said Joyce Saylan, a secretary who was headed out to lunch with her young son when the gunman brushed past her on the way inside.

"The guy walked in the door, went down the hall and started shooting ... Everybody thought it was a joke with a cap pistol because it was so quick. Then everybody started screaming," she said.

Two plainclothes policemen driving nearby heard the shots, stopped their car, jumped out and ordered Poree to "Freeze!" The officers said Poree surrendered peacefully.

Accused Embezzler Pleads Not Guilty

GRAND RAPIDS — A Bridgman woman was arraigned in federal district court here Monday on a charge of embezzlement from the Baroda branch of Inter-City Bank.

Constance M. Ott, 39, of 3640 Shawnee Road, pleaded innocent to a charge of embezzlement over $100, according to FBI agents from the Benton Harbor office who investigated the case.

Richard Edwards, FBI agent in Benton Harbor, said about $23,000 was unaccounted for at the branch bank when an internal audit revealed a discrepancy in late August.

Mrs. Ott was assistant to the manager of the Baroda branch.

The money was allegedly manipulated, according to Edwards, between various accounts and through authorization of loans to people with fictitious names.

Mrs. Ott was released on $1,000 personal recognizance bond after arraignment Monday before U.S. Magistrate Stephen W. Karr, according to Edwards.

Reports of an investigation of a suspected embezzlement at the Baroda branch were first confirmed late in August by James F. Murphy, president of Inter-City. The FBI was called in Aug. 26 after bank officials uncovered the suspected theft.

Bank officials confirmed this morning that Mrs. Ott has made full restitution. Dan Smith, executive vice president at Inter-City bank, said Mrs. Ott gave the bank $23,016.63 last week.

Mrs. Ott was fired by the bank Sept. 2 after an investigation was completed, Smith said. She had been an employee of the Baroda branch for the past 10 years, he said.

'NOT COMPARABLE,' WIFE COMPLAINS

Whartons Don't Like New Home

MRS. CLIFTON WHARTON

By MARTIN WALD
Associated Press Writer

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Outgoing Michigan State University president Clifton Wharton, Jr., is delighted with his new job, but apparently less than happy with his new home.

Wharton, who has accepted the post of chancellor of the State University of New York, made his first visit to the headquarters of the nation's largest university system Monday.

SUNY has "the potential for growth toward academic excellence — the greatest of any university system in the United States," Wharton said at a news conference.

He said he was not yet familiar enough with the problems of the massive 350,000-student system to comment on his plans.

Wharton and his wife, Dolores, were not pleased with everything they saw on their first visit to the state capital.

"We will have another address," Mrs. Wharton replied when asked about Chancellor's House, the SUNY chief's official residence. She said that it was "not comparable" to residences supplied to other university presidents.

At first she refused to explain her objections to the house — "Why should I?" she asked reporters — but later said the house was too large for only two people and could not be heated efficiently in a time of national energy shortages.

James Warren, a SUNY trustee, said that the stately brick residence on Marion Avenue "was not a very functional house," and that university officials had been looking for a replacement for several years.

Wharton said he was still studying the problems that confront the 64-campus SUNY system, such as recommendations for a merger with the City University of New York, and internal feuding between the trustees and the state Board of Regents, and between some faculty and the school's central administration.

"Believe it or not, I haven't even read the budget yet," Wharton said.

After a period of steady growth, SUNY is beginning a time of consolidation faced with a virtual moratorium on construction, recent faculty layoffs and declining enrollment.

"That's precisely the situation I entered Michigan State with," Wharton said, noting that he had still been able to begin many new programs, and had produced more Rhodes Scholars during his tenure as president there than any other public college.

"I'm talking about qualitative growth, not quantitative growth," he said.

Wharton, who at Michigan State was the first black man to head a major American University in recent memory, said he was convinced that more women a minority students could be admitted to colleges and professional schools without establishing strict racial quotas.

Weather Deaths Near 50; More Rain Forecast

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The weather system that dumped heavy rains on the Atlantic coast, causing almost 50 deaths in the South and creating commuter snarls and power blackouts in the North began to dissipate today, but a new weather system threatened to dump more rain.

The rains that caused a dam to burst in Toccoa, Ga., on Sunday, killing 38 people, also killed 10 people in North Carolina and one in Tennessee, according to official accounts released Monday.

North Carolina Gov. Jim Hunt wrote to President Carter, saying he would ask for a disaster declaration and relief later this week, after state investigators completed a survey of the damage.

Hundreds of eastern Tennessee families evacuated because of weekend flooding were back in their homes today as Civil Defense officials began tallying the damages. State Civil Defense officials said damage in six counties may exceed the $1.5 million in losses recorded in flooding early last month.

The Tennessee flooding knocked out the pumping station for Greene County's water supply and Civil Defense officials asked residents to restrict all non-essential use of water.

Flash flood watches were in effect for central and western Massachusetts and all of Rhode Island early today.

Two inches of rain fell on New York Monday with winds gusting up to 56 mph. There were arrival and departure delays at Kennedy and LaGuardia airports. Several thousand homes lost electricity briefly in suburban Westchester and Long Island when power lines were knocked down. More rain was expected today.

The weather service today issued coastal flood and gale warnings for northern New Jersey and flash flood warnings for most inland areas.

About 8,000 customers of Atlantic Electric Co. in southern New Jersey were temporarily without electricity Monday due to fallen power lines. An Atlantic City radio station, WFPG, was knocked off the air.

Denver, Colorado Springs and Pueblo were braced for as much as four inches of fresh snow today.

Long Range Weather Forecasting

So far as we are aware, the old Farmers Almanac is the only publicly circulated service which essays predicting a year in advance what the weather will be like.

It is a charming publication, full of information on what life used to be in our country's formulative years and well worth its moderate cost.

Its annual weather forecast, region by region, is a major feature.

It is far from being 100 per cent accurate, but it averages up quite well, better, in our opinion, than what the Associated Press relays to us from the U.S. Weather stations at Grand Rapids and Detroit.

The Almanac relies upon statistics of past performance by the weather and from those figures its editor issues a scientific guess on what may be looked for in the 12 months ensuing from the publication date.

Uncle Sam's Weather Service attempts a 30-day forecast which it promulgates on the first and fifteenth days of each month.

These forecasts are stated in the generality of temperature and precipitation ranges in the vein of warmer or colder and wetter or dryer than normal. They are given in regional dimensions.

Like the Almanac, the 30-day predictions average out reasonably well, although in our particular location toward the bottom of Lake Michigan they have a way of straying off course.

The Weather Service also puts out a five-day forecast on a daily basis which strives for a more pinpont targeting. Even here the Weather hedges its bet by saying on Monday the chance for rain or snow on Wednesday is 30 per cent or whatever its meteorological soundings indicate to be the appropriate ratio.

Mark Twain was the only man content to let the weather come and go as it saw fit.

Before and since the days of America's most celebrated humorist, mankind has been engrossed with trying to peer into what the earth's atmosphere may have in store for him.

The ancients relied upon incantations to the gods for their information.

In modern times we loft instrumention by balloons to obtain as to what may be in store upstairs.

Starting in December the Weather Service is venturing upon doubling its five-day forecasts to 10-day periods.

This bold experiment is based upon using computers to factor the information from the balloon-carried instruments against a variety of simulated circumstances. The latter relies heavily upon historically available data from past behavior from region to region.

The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, the Weather Service's parent agency, has a more ambitious program on the drawing boards.

This target is the same which the Farmers Almanac produces by hunch.

The NOAA's program has the enthusiastic support fo the Carter Administration and of Congress, both of which are prepared to fund the program liberally come the next budget making and arguing time.

Satellite-borne instrumentation will supplement in large measure, possibly replace, that now carried at much lower levels by the balloons; and computers will be assembled in regimental formations to digest this global accumulated information.

Robert White, chairman fo the Climate Research Board of the National Academy of sciences, a private organization that advises the governments, says "a confluence of events" has brought about this heightened interest in longer range weather forecasting. In his words:

"There have been a whole series of political and social shocks in the past 10 years, the Sahel drought in AFrica, the Soviet crop failure in 1972, last winter's cold weather. All this has caught public attention. At the same time, the problem has turned scientifically attractive. With satellites and computers the technology was suddenly there."

It would be a boon to know well in advance what crop plantings may he in order, what fuel supplies to store up, when to begin road construction, and so on.

It will be something less of a boon to advise the military when to launch the next war.

Scarier is the long range prediction becoming another tool for the government planner to sketch blueprints for the citizenry.

As Ralph Waldo Emerson, the philosopher, might have put it, for every plus there is a minus.

Soviets Play Numbers Game

In the USSR, the Kremlin tells other nations how many representatives they may have in Moscow while sending delegations abroad which by comparison are outrageous in size.

Espionage and the collection of all manner of information, economic, political, psychological and even on the state of public morale, are reasons for this gigantic over-staffing.

The Soviet task force in Washington is many times the size of the staff the U.S. is permitted to maintain in Moscow. With the massive United Nations delegation, the Soviet Union maintains a second beachhead in America's largest city.

Travel restrictions on Soviet personnel in the U.S. roughly are copied after those of the USSR. When the Russians expel an American, the U.S. expels a Russian diplomat. This is about as far as diplomatic reciprocity goes.

Many Americans are convinced it is not nearly far enough.

Determination Is Rewarded

In man's fights to preserve species of wildlife he helped place on the endangered list, few have been as long and as dramatic as the whooping crane's tedious climb back from the brink of extinction.

Whether because it is such a graceful specimen or simply through coincidence, conservationists have devoted as much effort to the revival of the whooping crane as any species. They have results to show for their efforts, although the progress has been painstakingly slow.

From a low point of 14 known birds in 1939, the flock had been increased to 126 by last spring. Experiments with controlled incubation and the substitution of sandhill cranes as foster parents are tactics which have helped. The point has not been reached where efforts can be relaxed, but the survival of the whooping crane now is far more certain than it has been at any time in a third of a century.

MEDIC I BAD DEBTS "SHOCK" READER

Editor,

In regards to the information given on Medic I bad debts, I would like to make some comments.

I am shocked at the so-called citizens that are indebted to Medic I and have made no arrangements to pay. I can well remember when the need for an ambulance came to my family. The gentle hands that helped my father, stricken with a massive heart attack, onto a stretcher and gave him oxygen on the way to the hospital. Had he not had that care he may not have lived the few hours that he did, so that his family could still share some tender moments with him.

These men did not stand there requesting $45 on the spot so that they could go about their job. They just cared for the person with immediate care. The money was mailed to them in a week.

Every second counts in saving a life. These are dedicated men who pull a 24-hour duty at one time. They have families that feel the strain of their job. They are fully dedicated to giving the very best of care to anyone taken suddenly ill or injured. It is not the pay that attracts them, for it is practically the minimum wage. It isn't because they like the things they see, for they are very unpleasant. These men are trained in emergency care, and they are giving their best.

I would like to say this to every citizen owing Medic I, "Where is your conscience? Have you forgotten what it meant to you to have assistance from Medic I for a dear loved one?"

I feel ashamed for you. Are we going to let another ambulance service go down in shambles? It is your responsibility to pay your debt to Medic I, just as you pay your doctor and hospital bills.

I say to you, call Medic I now, today, tonight, and make arrangements to clear your slate. I guarantee that you will feel 10 feet tall again.

As a citizen, I would like to take this opportunity to give each staff member of Medic I, a big thank you for your complete dedication and wonderful care to the people who make up your community. We need you!

SHE'S HAPPY, SAD OVER FRANCINE

Editor,

Now that Mrs. Hughes' trial is over, I'm happy for her and sad at the same time. Having been a happy liberated (automatically) woman, my comments may be unfounded.

That poor woman and her family were mentally scarred before the incident causing her arrest and trial. Beatings, screaming — the children had to witness — will hardly leave those young minds too readily. We do have laws to control males of that caliber. When visiting rights to the children were given him and he pursued his brutality those laws should have been enforced. Of course, action on her part would have been necessary.

Mrs. Hughes befriending her estranged husband during his illness was very noble but if he continued his brutality again her compassion should have ended. Lawmakers and law enforcers should wipe the dust off those law books and see to it actions like this done in the heat of passion, I call it, don't reoccur. In the same breath, the women should seek the laws, too.

Sen. Long Has Upper Hand

WASHINGTON (NEA) — No matter how long it takes, sooner or later President Carter is going to get the energy bill he deserves — and Russell Long wants.

The wily chairman of the Senate Finance Committee holds all the face cards in the table stakes game between the House and Senate energy conferees, and Carter dealt him the hand.

The President gave Long every ace in the deck when he declared that his own performance in the White House this year should be judged a success or failure depending on whether Congress sends him an energy bill he can sign.

Even Carter's most loyal political supporters winced at that little exercise in hyperbole. With one rhetorical swoop, the President tossed away the option of vetoing an oil companies for their intransigence.

Now he must deal with Russell Long, who has been known to walk off with the Capitol dome under far more challenging circumstances.

And Long's price for sending Carter an energy bill the President can live with boils down to one thing: financial incentives to the oil and gas industry for increased production and the development of alternative sources of energy.

The House energy bill, which is virtually identical to Carter's original proposal, contains no such incentives — at least in the view of Long and the industry.

What it does contain is a wellhead tax on domestic oil which would drive the price up to the international level, thereby discouraging consumption and promoting conservation. Carter wants all proceeds of this crude oil tax, which he has repeatedly called the "centerpiece" of his energy program, rebated to consumers.

Forget about natural gas deregulation. Forget about the gas guzzler tax, the user tax to force conversion from oil and gas to coal. Forget about tax credits for home insulation.

The outcome of the energy conference is going to turn on Russell Long's determination to grab some of the proceeds of Carter's, wellhead tax for production incentives to the industry.

Carter is already hollering "ripoff" and insisting oil and gas producers don't deserve any more money. But he can talk until he's blue in the face, and the end result will be the same.

If he wants a wellhead tax, the President is going to have to let Russell Long divert some of the proceeds to the producers — probably indirectly, through the creation of an energy development corporation.

Such a corporation, or fund, was originally proposed by former Vice President Nelson Rockefeller. As envisioned by Long, it would probably provide either low-interest loans or loan guarantees to industry for extraction of hard-to-reach oil and gas and development of alternative energy resources.

The Senate has more or less endorsed Long's approach, and has given the Finance Committee chairman a virtual blank check for negotiating with House conferees.

Anyone who has ever watched Long operate in conferences with the House knows the Louisiana Democrat will give away every item on the bargaining table to achieve whatever he has set as his own principal objective.

After all his attacks on the oil industry, Carter is likely to find Russell Long's prescription a bitter pill to swallow. But having tied his own political health to a congressional enactment of an energy bill, Carter has no option but to take his medicine like a man.

James Alan McPherson

Sticking Up For Hemingway

At the present, I am teaching a course at Dartmouth about Ernest Hemingway and also completing a book about Hemingway and Scott Fitzgerald, and, well, something must be done about the nonsense that is beginning to be written about Hemingway in the press.

The trouble began when Aaron Latham, a Washington Post reporter with a Ph.D. in England from Princeton, wrote an odd and misleading piece on Hemingway for the New York Times Sunday Magazine a couple of weeks back.

Taking a look at some unpublished manuscripts by Hemingway that had been donated to the Kennedy Library, Latham was particularly struck by a long, rambling and not very coherent work called "Garden of Eden." In it, the hero and heroine experiment with reversing sex roles. She calls him "Catherine" and he calls her, for some reason, "Pete."

Wide-eyed, Latham announces the discovery of a new and complex Hemingway: "His unpublished works, just given to the Kennedy Library, show him beset by conflicting ideas of masculinity and femininity." Latham concludes that recent readers have been put off by Hemingway's macho image and therefore have not been reading him much any more, but that this new and somewhat kinky Hemingway ought to appeal to the taste of the late 1970s.

Absurdly enough, a major Eastern newspaper actually wrote an editorial celebrating this "new" Hemingway.

The trouble with this whole business is that no intelligent person could read the early Hemingway, the Hemingway of "In Our Time" (1925), "The Sun Also Rises" (1926), and "A Farewell to Arms" (1929), and still take the macho image at face value; just as no intelligent reader could continue to consider Robert Frost a cracker barrel philosopher or T.S. Eliot some kind of Anglican churchwarden.

Throughout his career, Hemingway has been a "dark" writer. His early stories resemble nightmares, haunted by screams.

In his very first story in "In Our Time," a man commits suicide. Madness and sexual deviation, death, horror, violence — the early works are full of them. The question Hemingway raises in virtually every sentence is how one lives with this kind of experience. If Hemingway was complicated sexually, the fact should surprise no one.

In the editorial just mentioned, the anonymous writer characterizes Hemingway's fiction this way: "Emotions didn't count. Controlling them did. Relationships didn't count. Mastering one's feelings, even tender feelings, did."

Sorry, that flunks. Throughout his best work, Hemingway deals with emotions so powerful that they are constantly on the verge of being overwhelming. The sensibility exhibited is sensitive to the point of virtual deliquescense.

The editorial goes from bad to worse: Hemingway's "Novels . . . despite their frequent brilliance, never once captured a woman . . . in any dimension or depth."

That, about the author of two of the most poignant rumances in our literature, about the creator of two of our most moving heroines, Catherine Barkley and Brett Ashley.

Alexander Pope, thou shouldst be living at this hour. Grub Street was never worse than this, and surely we need a fifth book, now, to your Dunciad.

St. Joe Opposes Legislation To Cut Firefighter Hours

The St. Joseph City Commission Monday night voted to send letters to the state Legislature opposing a bill that would reduce by 10 percent the average number of hours per week a firefighter can work.

The bill — HB 4721 — would reduce the average work week for firefighters on 24-hour shifts from 56 hours to 50.4. There would be no reduction in pay.

Commissioners instructed City Manager Gerald Heppler to send letters opposing the bill to Rep. Harry Gast (R-St. Joseph); Sen. Charles Zollar (R-Benton Harbor); and Rep. Daisy Elliott (D-Detroit), chairman of the House Labor Committee which is now considering the proposal.

Heppler said passage of the bill would have a serious financial effect on the city's 21-man fire department.

Under the 56-hour work week, St. Joseph firefighters work about 121 days a year. If the new law were to go into effect, that would be reduced to about 109 days, Heppler said.

Much of the 24-hour duty shift is devoted to sleeping, eating and recreation in the fire station, Heppler said. He said he could see no reason why the hours should be reduced.

Commissioners told Heppler to estimate the added cost the bill would create for the city and include those figures in the letters.

In other areas Monday night, the commission scheduled a Dec. 19 public hearing on redevelopment plans for an office complex district to be located in a three-block area bounded by Main, Pleasant, Wayne and Broad streets.

The hearing will take place during the regular city commission meeting on that date. The city is already in the process of acquiring property for the proposed campus-style office district. The property is to be leveled and resold to developers.

City Attorney Arthur G. Preston Jr. said that at the public hearing commissioners will consider adopting plans for redevelopment of the area and for relocating present residents.

Commissioners approved two planning commission recommendations that came out of the planning commission meeting Thursday.

One was for a special use permit for Stevensville developer Rudy Brunkel to construct four office buildings on a 1.95-acre site between Lake Shore Drive and Cleveland Avenue. The site is just south of the Sand Bar tavern.

Each building will contain about 2,400 square feet and two offices. The project is estimated at $600,000.

The offices are designed primarily for physicians, although attorneys and other professionals may also occupy them.

The other planning commission recommendation approved was to rezone 2.9 acres owned by the Leco Corp. from single-family to office-commercial.

The vacant lot is bounded by Hilltop Road, Lakeview Avenue and Veronica Drive. It is directly west of existing Leco facilities.

In a written request for the change, Leco President Robert J. Warren said the company is considering construction of an administration building on the lot.

The commission voted to allow the Twin Cities Civitan Club to sell fruitcakes as a club fund-raising project Saturday, Nov. 19.

'WE'LL HAVE NOTHING BUT PLAINS'

BH Demolitions Trigger Debate

The Benton Harbor City Commission's approval last night of preliminary steps toward tearing down seven substandard houses set off a public debate on housing problems in Benton Harbor.

"We're averaging six or seven houses (demolitions) a week," Commissioner Charles Yarbrough said. "Unless we come up with some housing plan to get the houses replaced, we're going to have nothing but plains here."

Commissioners Alfred Williams and Norval Weiss disagreed with Yarbrough, saying the demolition of substandard houses will make the city more attractive to an investor who would build more houses.

City Manager Melvin Farmer Jr. said the houses the city is tearing down are vacant, dangerous and "eyesores."

The commission voted to advertise for bids for demolition of houses at 254 Jefferson Court, 1033 Monroe Ave., 430 Ohio St., 365 N. Stevens St., 1070 Union St., 832 Warwick Terrace, and 433 Rilford St.

George Edgell, owner of the house at 832 Warwick, told commissioners he has been trying to keep the house boarded up, but vandals have torn down the boards three times and have stolen items from the house including a one-ton air conditioner.

Edgell offered to donate the property to the city, but Farmer recommended that the offer not be accepted because two years' of property taxes are owed on the property. The cost for demolishing the property is added to the property owner's tax bill, according to Farmer.

The commission voted in July to instruct the city staff to come up with a housing policy to replace demolished houses, but Farmer said last night the policy has not yet been formulated. The motion for the housing policy was called for by Yarbrough, who said the city has demolished more than 250 houses since 1974, and no single family homes have been built since then.

Members of the audience joined the debate last night and expanded on the topic.

Fern Boynton, of 1220 McAllister Ave., said the city will not attract any new housing until it takes care of its other problems including crime, prostition and gambling.

"You're never going to get anybody here when you don't enforce the ordinances you have," she said. "When you call the police department to report something, they say 'You live in a ghetto, what do you expect?'"

The commission also voted to approve contracts with B&B Wrecking Co., to demolish a house at 361 High St. for $800, and a house at 555 Cass St. for $750, and with Bilton and Bilton Excavating, to demolish a house at 348 Summit St. for $749.

In other action, the commission voted to approve a license for Advance Cab Co. to operate an additional taxi, a 1974 Dodge, in the city.

Rodez said the new policy will go into effect at 7 a.m. Nov. 14. Any calls of a non-emergency or personal nature should be placed by calling 925-7061, he said.

No Charges Filed In Death Of Woman

Berrien Prosecutor John Smietanka yesterday said no charges will be filed against the drivers of two cars which struck a woman walking across I-94 in Benton Township Sunday night.

Myrtle Pauline Cook, 34, of Berrien Springs, was killed on the eastbound lane of I-94 after her car reportedly broke down. Smietanka said police reports indicate she parked her car along the shoulder of the freeway, walked to the median, and was attempting to walk back to the car when hit.

The accident occurred at 10:43 p.m. Benton Township Police said the woman was first hit by a car driven by Michael D. Willett, 18, of Tenth Avenue, South Haven, and her body was then struck by a car operated by Michael S. Warren, 18, of 6309 Hagar Shore Road, Hagar Township.

Willett told officers Mrs. Cook stepped into the path of his car without looking and he was unable to avoid striking her. Warren said he was unable to avoid the body on the road because of heavy traffic, according to police.

SJ Schools Tell Bad Weather Procedure

Burton Aldrich, St. Joseph schools superintendent, has announced the system's policy for the closing of schools when hazardous road conditions prevail.

Aldrich said the decision to close schools will be made by 6:15 a.m. based on information from police and area residents. He said announcements will be made over Radio Stations WHFB and WSJM beginning at 6:30 a.m. if schools are closed.

He also said that if bad driving conditions develop during school hours, students will be sent home early, and announcements over the same radio stations will relay necessary information to parents. Aldrich also stressed that parents should not telephone school offices about closings because the lines are needed for emergency calls. Aldrich added that complete plans for emergency school closings are available upon request from his office.

SJ Twp. Wants House Repaired Or Demolished

The St. Joseph Township board last night took action to have a house at the corner of Washington Avenue and Vineland Road repaired or demolished.

Supervisor Orval Benson appointed Trustee Ronald Griffin as a hearing officer. Following the township's "Dangerous or Unsafe Building" ordinance, Griffin will hold a hearing in about two weeks and recommended whether the house at 3307 S. Washington Ave. should be demolished or repaired, Benson explained.

Harold Morrison, building inspector, said the house is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kish and family. It is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Wolter of 1266 Vineland, said Morrison. He said he's been trying to get Wolter to fix the house for four or five years.

After Griffin conducts the hearing, he'll report to the township board. Benson said the board will determine whether the house can be repaired or should be torn down. The owner can appeal the decision to Berrien Circuit Court, Benson said.

Also last night board members said they would consider a donation of pine trees offered by Mrs. Ralph Poole, 3302 Washington Avenue. She said she'd be glad to give some of the trees at her home to help landscape the new township hall. Manager Isadore DiMaggio said the only possible problem with the gift was the removal and transportation of the large trees. The board thanked her for the offer.

DiMaggio announced that for this week only, the garbage crew will ignore its rule of picking up only six garbage bags from each home. All bags put out will be picked up, he said. A large number of bags of leaves led to suspension of the rule, he said.

A request for a lot split and lot combination was granted to Frederick C. Undem for lots he owns at 1834 and 1852 Commonwealth Road.

Undem, a member of the township planning commission, explained the split and combination amount to a change in the property lines between two houses on the lots.

The board also granted requests from the St. Joseph High School band and orchestra and the Seventh-day Adventist Church, 1352 Colfax Ave.

The church will conduct an "outreach program" and ask for offerings between today and Nov. 17; the students will sell candles Nov. 9 through 13.

The only side issue appears on the Niles ballot, where voters are being asked to decide on a half-mill property tax levy to support Dial-A-Ride for one year.

Recruiter On Home Duty

Airman Bradley L. Black, a recent graduate of the Air Force's Technical Training Center at San Antonio, Texas, and a 1975 graduate of Benton Harbor High School, has returned to assist his recruiter in the Twin Cities area under the Recruiter Helper program.

Black, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Black, 682 Waverly Drive, Benton Harbor, Michigan, volunteered to assist in recruiting efforts here for a temporary period, according to Sergeant Anthony L. Brackins, Air Force representative here.

Black selected training as a security specialist prior to entering the Air Force's delayed enlistment program in November of 1976. Prior to attending Lackland Technical Training Center and Camp Bullis he completed six weeks of basic military training at Lackland Air Base, Texas. He is presently assigned to Little Rock Air Force Base, Arkansas.

Man, 85, Robbed Of $77 At Gunpoint In SJ Lot

An 85-year-old man was robbed at gunpoint yesterday last night in St. Joseph in a city-owned parking lot located across Ship Street from his Whitcomb Tower residence, according to St. Joseph police.

The victim of the 7:20 p.m. armed robbery was identified by officers as Frederick S. Crowhurst, a resident of the Michigan Baptist retirement home located at 509 Ship.

Patrolman Steve Doak said Crowhurst told him he was robbed of $77 by a calm man who pressed a shiny revolver against his stomach.

Doak reported Crowhurst gave this account:

He had just parked his car and was locking the vehicle's door when a man approached him and pointed a handgun at him. The man told Crowhurst to "give me all the money you got" and Crowhurst took a money roll from his trouser pocket and handed it to his assailant.

The man demanded more money and began a pat search of Crowhurst who told the man he had no more money and showed the robber his empty wallet.

Apparently satisfied, the holdup man ordered Crowhurst to lie down between two cars without turning around.

Doak reported Crowhurst said he got down on his hands and knees and heard a car door slam and the auto leave the parking lot toward Lake Boulevard.

Crowhurst described the robber as a black man, about 40 years old, five foot seven and 180 pounds, according to Doak. The officer said the holdup man was reportedly clean-shaven and wearing dark clothing with a large-brimmed dress hat.

Health Program Proves Popular

Senior Citizens Screening

CONNIE SMITH

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

HARTFORD — A federally-funded health screening program for the elderly in the tri-county area has proven to be a popular one, according to a Van Buren County Health Department official.

Since getting underway in May, the program has had elderly persons from Berrien, Cass, and Van Buren counties flocking to 19 sites at churches and senior citizen centers for free physicals. And as a result, the waiting list for appointments has grown to up to two months, according to Connie Smith, associate director of nursing for the Van Buren Health Department, and program director.

"All the feedback we've been getting has been very positive," she said.

Administered through the Region IV Area Agency on Aging and Van Buren Health Department in conjunction with the Berrien and Cass health departments, the program is funded from a $34,000 grant under Title III of the Social Security Act.

The only eligibility requirement is that the person tested be 60 or older. The screening includes blood, urine, vision, hearing, and pulmonary function tests, plus an EKG (electrocardiogram).

"The basic purpose is to detect and discover any undiagnosed or undiscovered chronic illnesses and then refer the patient for treatment," Mrs. Smith said.

Of the first 299 people screened, 98 percent were referred for further treatment, Mrs. Smith said. The most common problems were hearing (19 percent) and vision (17 percent) losses.

High blood pressure and symptoms of cardiovascular (heart) disease were also common, she said, although not unexpected in a group of people of the ages being screened.

Each patient is screened by a team consisting of nurse Betty Smith (no relation to Connie Smith) and laboratory technician Kathy Porter. The series of tests take about an hour to complete, limiting the number of persons screened to about seven per day. Local senior citizen organizations handle the scheduling and complete intake cards on persons tested.

"I think that one of the biggest problems we've found is a shortage of doctors," said Betty Smith. "They (the elderly) have had the same doctors for years and now some of them have left the area. It's very hard to find a new doctor."

"The doctors that are around are doing a very good job, but they can handle only so many patients."

Another common problem, she said, is confusion about medications.

"Many of them don't understand how to take their medications, or aren't taking them they were told to by their doctor."

Miss Smith added that one of the major benefits of the program is that it provides senior citizens who might not otherwise be eligible for health screening through some type of public assistance, an opportunity to check up on their general condition for free.

Persons interested in the program should contact their local senior citizen organization for an appointment.

Conditions Improve In France

Women's Rights

By ROSETTE HARGROVE

PARIS — (NEA) — Skeptics may question the lasting impact of "Women's Year," observed worldwide in 1976 and then rapidly forgotten in so many countries, but it does appear to have added some momentum to the improvement of the condition of the Frenchwoman.

The more important measures adopted recently by the government concern single and former married women whose rights, Minister of Health Simone Veil declares, "must be expanded."

There are in France 3,500,000 women living alone. A half million of them are responsible for the care and upbringing of children. They need further help. With the liberalization of divorce and abortion laws the payment of alimony is now not only obligatory but court judgments have considerably raised the ante. For the average Frenchman, his obligation regarding alimony was somewhat illusory as well as inadequate, even in the higher income brackets, and evasion as relatively easy for an ex-husband. Today this has changed. Evasion and nonpayment of alimony can be subject to a heavy fine and even a prison sentence, usually "suspended" but nevertheless put down in the "livret de famille" (family book) which every French citizen is obliged to carry.

Two years ago the government was presented with a proposal to grant financial relief for elderly women living alone, also a special money grant to low-income mothers of children up to three years old. Another measure stipulated that after the birth of a child a woman could stop working for a period of two years and find her job still available if she wanted it. These measures were recognition of the new equality of women. In the same category, a parent staying at home to care for a sick child would receive the equivalent of 50 per cent of his or her salary.

The matter of equality of pay is still in the embryo stage. Last year a proposition was submitted to the government whereby official organizations were called upon to refuse to sign business contracts with any company where this equality was not observed.

As of this Oct. 1, minimum income of 1,536 francs (a little over $300) would be guaranteed to women with one child, $100 more for two children — This up to three years old. Unmarried mothers are also beneficiaries.

Social security is open to divorced women and widows for one year following death or divorce. A law passed in 1975 ensures this benefit to solitary women. Finally, mothers taking care of handicapped children automatically benefit by social insurance medical aid.

Women over 55 and widows will now be entitled to a supplement to the state old age pension.

The question of alimony now under study would also provide an ex-wife with a lien on her ex-husband's pension, computed by the number of years the couple lived together.

Two years ago the women's movement was responsible for the proposal that a national community service be set up for girls leaving school at 16, which then was considered quasi-revolutionary. The compulsory service, from four to six months, would establish equivalence between boys and girls, since all boys are liable to military service. This was one of the 102 recommendations put forward by Francoise Giroud when she was appointed the first State Secretary for Women's Affairs in 1975.

According to Madame Giroud, this service "would mix social classes and permit the girls to acquire useful knowledge for facing the 'realities of life.'"

Details of how this project could be achieved did not go far beyond the discussion stage especially when the Assembly learned that it would cost around two billion francs ($400 million), besides calling for a complete revision of the military service.

According to one political pundit, Madame Giroud's 102 proposals ranged from the symbolic to the revolutionary, from the substantive to the utopian, from the sublime to the ridiculous in the view of conventional citizens who still regard the woman's movement largely as a female fantasy.

The Baha'i Faith is an independent world religion that is working to establish the unity of mankind. It is based on the revelation of Baha'u'llah, who was born Nov. 12, 1817.

Choose Compatible Facings

Interfacings and linings are an important purchase consideration when planning a home sewing project.

Thought should be given to choosing the proper interfacing or lining to coordinate with an outer fabric, both for desired effect and care compatibility.

The most common function of interfacing is to impart stiffness of body, e.g., to collars, cuffs, facing, waistbands, and enhance the drape of the finished product. Woven and non-woven interfacings are available in light and medium weights. Most are machine washable and dryable, since the majority are polyester, cotton, rayon or a blend of these.

A real timesaver is fusible or press-on interfacing. Applied with an iron, rather than sewn, they are available in machine-washable, woven and non-woven varieties.

Linings perform different functions. A lining fabric may be used to cover the raw edges and wrong sides of a garment or home furnishings, or support the outer fabric and prevent unnecessary wear. Teamed with curtains and draperies, a lining prevents some fabrics from fading due to sunlight. They hang loose and are sewn in, so that seams are not visible.

Underlining is similar to lining since it adds extra body and support to a garment. However, it is cut like the outer fabric and pressed onto each piece of the garment before any seams are sewn, so seams may be noticeable.

Interlining, added to a lining fabric, increases warmth and insulation. It is usually sewn between the outer fabric and lining or between two thicknesses of the outer material.

Linings come in various weaves — plain, basket, satin, twill — and three different weights. Man-made fibers are most popular.

It pays to read laundering instructions stresses The Soap and Detergent association. Other information, such as whether the interfacing or lining is preshrunk, is important. The outer fabric and the interfacing or lining fabric must be compatible.

The bride wore an empire gown and mantilla and carried baby's breath, carnations and sweetheart roses.

A reception was held at the church.

Diabetic Urges Testing Participation At Area Hospitals

Sharon Finch is a very active woman. She is a registered nurse working in an area emergency room, mother of two teenage children and an ice cream lover. But Sharon Finch is a diabetic.

"Around Christmas, 1970, our family purchased a color television," Mrs. Finch said. "Everyone in the family was telling me what a great picture the television had, but I kept telling them the picture was blurry. I noticed through the entire Christmas vacation time I was extremely tired. I found myself lying around and not wanting to do anything.

"A few weeks before Christmas, I had gone to the doctor because I had all the symptoms of the flu. So the doctor treated me for the flu and when I still didn't feel good, I thought that I was just going to take a little bit longer in recovering than usual," she commented.

"On Valentine's Day, 1971, I had another appointment with the doctor because I still did not feel up to par. Because of being a nurse, I suspected in my mind that I might have diabetes. I had every symptom. I lost a large amount of weight between Christmas and Valentine's Day, had extreme thirst and frequent urination problems.

"Before I even went to the doctor, I felt he would put me in the hospital. Since my children were in grade school and came home for lunch every day, I made a special effort to take them out to lunch before I had to go to the doctor. I had a feeling I wasn't going to be home for awhile," she said.

Mrs. Finch said that when she went to the doctor, took the necessary tests and was found to be a diabetic, the doctor admitted her to the hospital the same day. "In the hospital, I had my first introduction to the world of a diabetic via my first meal that first night. There were no fried foods and I had to use sugar substitute for the first time in my life.

"In the beginning I admit that it was a very emotional thing," Mrs. Finch said. "I was in the same room with a sweet elderly woman who was also a diabetic. She was very kind and gave me many words of encouragement.

"I was aware of all the symptoms of the diabetic before because I was a nurse. But what I knew was merely book knowledge and that was it. I was not really aware of the emotional aspects. The first few days I was in the hospital, I felt really depressed. I did a lot of feeling sorry for myself. I did have a very good doctor and an understanding and encouraging family which helped me rid myself of those self pity feelings," she said.

She said that she was in the hospital for nearly three weeks, which she added was an unusually long time. A newly detected diabetic is generally in the hospital for a week to find the proper means of control, whether it be by diet or medication, she said. At first, she noted, she was treated with diet and oral medication, but gradually the condition got worse. It was then discovered that she would have to be controlled through insulin injections.

"Before being detected, I could eat my days anyway I wanted to, but I found that being a diabetic I had to take a little more control of my life, especially when it came to sleeping habits. I still have to discipline myself," she said. "If I stay out late at night, I tend to suffer for it the next day.

"Knowing you're a diabetic sure is better than being an undetected diabetic because your chances of leading a full and active life are immensely greater when your diabetes is under control. This can only happen after your diabetes has been detected," she noted.

"Initially, I felt uneasy about going to parties. But soon most of my friends found out that I was a diabetic and continued to invite me to their parties just as before. As far as giving up liquor, I was never a big drinker to begin with. I'm on a calorie diet, and in order for me to have a drink, I have to plan all day long to do it.

"Those diabetics who have two drinks a night and do not compensate for it in their diets are the ones who are really going to run into trouble," she added.

Mrs. Finch feels that the diet she is on is a very healthy one. "My whole family is on my regime. Ninety percent of my meal planning is done for me. My family has adjusted to this. And yet I still bake for my family and still fix desserts for them. Where I used to fry, I now bake. I tend to select low calorie foods now," she said.

Mrs. Finch has two children. Matthew, 17, is a senior at St. Joseph High School, and Kenna, 16, is a sophomore at the same school. Her husband, Fielding, is a teacher for Benton Harbor Public Schools.

She is involved with an area diabetic unit as its patient education and program chairman. The unit was started two years ago with five to six initial members. "The regional director of the American Diabetic Association Michigan affiliate in Grand Rapids sent letters to known diabetics in the area and asked to meet him to start an area affiliate. We felt that since there are between 400 to 500 known diabetics in Berrien County, we would have enough people to start a unit here. We asked Dr. Gerald Beal (Chief of the Department of Medicine at Memorial Hospital, St. Joseph) to be our medical advisor," she said.

The meetings for the area unit are held four times a year at Memorial. Mrs. Finch said that attendance is between 40 and 50 per meeting, with a variety of topics of interest to the diabetic discussed at each meeting. The unit is sponsored by the Michigan affiliate of the American Diabetes Association and supported entirely by volunteers.

Mrs. Finch is also a state delegate on the Michigan Diabetic Council and is on the research and funding committee for the state affiliate.

She said that while she is a diabetic and her lifestyle has been changed because of it, she still maintains an active life. She works in Memorial's emergency room on a part time basis.

She is more open now concerning her diabetes than before, she commented. "When I first received my Medic Alert bracelet which says I am a diabetic, I would only wear it in the house, and take it off when I went out. It didn't make sense since everyone in my house knew I was a diabetic. Now I wear it all the time," she said.

"I've found that I can't expect to do everything in one day. I must plan out my activities. I don't really miss anything. At first, I was under the impression that I would not be allowed to eat ice cream, which I love, and went for two years without it. I found out later that I can have it, but I must plan ahead and make substitutions in my diet to compensate for it."

Mrs. Finch said that diabetes, aside from the physical aspects, is a mental condition that can be lived with. "Since I found out I was a diabetic, I am much healthier. I'm much thinner, and feel I look better than I ever have before."

Mrs. Finch said she encourages all unknown diabetics to be screened at the blood screening tests at area hospitals. "If only one out of 0 is found to be a diabetic, that is one life that can possibly be saved through early detection and control," she noted.

Screening This Week

Area hospitals will offer free diabetes screening tests this week in observance of Diabetes Detection Week, Nov. 6-12.

Memorial Hospital in St. Joseph and Mercy Hospital in Benton Harbor will be conducting their screening programs from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 10. Memorial's tests will be in the hospital's Forum and Mercy's will be on the second floor north.

Berrien General Hospital, Berrien Center, will be screening from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 10, in that hospital's laboratory.

Watervliet Community Hospital will conduct screening tests from 2 to 6 p.m. Wednesday in the hospital dining room.

These tests will be open to all unknown diabetics. Children who have a diabetic family history may be screened if accompanied by a parent or guardian.

TC Clergy To Meet At Memorial Hospital

Twin Cities Clergy Association will meet at 12:45 p.m., Thursday, Nov. 10, in the board room of Memorial Hospital, St. Joseph.

According to the Rev. Clyde Van Winkle, secretary of the association, the topic for the meeting will be setting priorities in the ministry. He says, "pastors, rabbis and and priests are constantly forced to make choices about what is important for them to do. They are often caught in the middle of a confusing array of expectations from their congregations, the community and their families."

The Rev. Van Winkle, also said, "the November meeting of the Clergy Association has been designed to provoke discussion and sharing of ideas in this area of setting priorities and management of time for those in the ministry."

A panel of local pastors will share some of their experiences and insights to begin the afternoon discussion. Panelists will be the Rev. Charles Allen, the Rev. Robert DeFrance, the Rev. Curt Plummer and the Rev. Daniel Streufert.

All area clergy are invited to this meeting and those who desire may eat lunch in the hospital cafeterin preceding the meeting.

Change Habits In Eating

Today, much emphasis is being placed on changing the eating behavior that has led to overweight. You must start by keeping a record for several days of everything you eat, when you eat, why or under what conditions you eat, and even noting what feelings or emotions may sometimes be associated with eating.

The object then is to retrain yourself to eat in a way that you can continue the rest of your life for permanent weight loss.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Don't Wait For Epidemic

Dear Ann Landers: Both my sister and I have three children between 4 and 11 years of age. Mary says she is having her children immunized this week against measles, mumps, rubella and whooping cough. She also mentioned polio.

I have not heard of a child getting polio for several years. I thought this disease was conquered. Also, what about the others? Why go to the trouble if there is no danger?

Please check with your medical consultants and give us the right information. A visit to the doctor's office costs $25 these days. Thank you. — Champaign, Ill.

Dear Champaign: In recent months there has been a frightening increase in measles, rubella and whooping cough. Not many people realize that these diseases can cause mental retardation, deafness, pneumonia, and encephalitis.

Polio has NOT been conquered. In 1954, 38,000 cases of polio were reported. In 1976, there were ten. Ten seems like a small number but if your child was one of the ten, it would be a very significant number indeed. This is the problem we are now facing. People have become complacent. We cannot afford to wait for another epidemic to hit before we protect our children.

The United States Public Health Service has just printed a new booklet, "A Parent's Guide To Childhood Immunization." It is available free. Write to Immunization, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

This booklet will tell you what shots your child needs, at what age and where to get the shots without charge in certain communities.

Oral polio vaccines are available free of charge to any school-age child in Chicago and Cook County. Parents should call the Board of Health. They will be referred to the clinic nearest their homes.

I urge every mother and dad to act to protect your children at once. What else will you do today that is as important?

ANN LANDERS

Pest With Camera

Dear Ann Landers: I get along with my mother-in-law very well — until picture-taking time.

For every major family event (beginning with our wedding) she has spoiled the solemnity of the occasion by insisting on having a photographer on hand. When we sealed our vows with a kiss, the camera was right under our noses.

Last week our daughter was baptized. My mother-in-law hired a photographer (same one) and directed all the picture-taking. When I told her I didn't like the idea she said, "You'll be glad to have the pictures in years to come."

I do enjoy having pictures, but I would prefer fewer pictures and a little more dignity at affairs which are supposed to have religious significance. What do you suggest? — Overpowered

Dear Over: A good commercial photographer knows how to take pictures without getting in the way. Perhaps this is the problem.

In the future, if the event is one you should be in control of (such as the baptism of your child) tell your mother-in-law that you will engage the photographer. You can then engage the photographer of your choice, give him explicit instructions on what you want and what you do not want.

Don't get burned by a "line" that's too hot to handle. Play it cool with Ann Landers' guide to "Necking and Petting — What Are the Limits?" Send your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Opening lead — 10♣

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Here is a hand from a match between Spain and Germany. The German bidding as shown in the box was straight forward enough provided you know that South's three-spade bid showed a solid suit.

Declarer looked over dummy, remarked that he guessed he had underbid and wished he was in seven. He let the club come around to his king, cashed two high spades, bust into happy laughter when East showed but, played out the trumps and made only six on account of the horrendous trump break.

The Spaniards started with an artificial club and somehow or other South became declarer at six notrump after North bid all around the mulberry bush. A heart was opened. He won the trick, came to his hand with the king of clubs, led the ace of spades, noted the spade nine, then worked out the play to make six notrump.

It wasn't a tough one. He simply cashed the other three top spades while discarding one heart and three clubs and then led the 10 of diamonds for a finesse.

Ask the Jacobys

An Oregon reader wants to know the correct opening bid with:

♠ A K x x x ♥ K x ♦ x ♣ A K x x x

Either one club or one spade is acceptable. We prefer to open one club and then bid and rebid spades.

Plan Evening With 'Mark Twain'

HOLLAND — An evening with Mark Twain, featuring Twain impersonator Scott Brown, will be presented by the Hope College English and theatre departments, Thursday, Nov. 10, at 7:30 p.m. in the main theatre of the DeWitt Cultural Center.

The public is invited and admission is free.

Brown's one-man show is an hour and a half program of Twain wit, tall tales, and readings from Huck Finn, all selected from the actual material Twain used on his world-famous "lecture tours" of the mid-1880s and late 1890s.

According to college spokemen, Brown creates the physical illusion of the white-haired, mustached elderly Twain by spending approximately three hours "building" his makeup before he dons his white suit to "become" the humorist.

Brown has had excellent reviews on the college campuses where he has appeared, as well as having "the blessing" of Hal Holbrook, the most successful of the Twain impersonators. The performance promises to appeal to all age groups, the spokesmen said.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Will all gall stones show up on X rays? I had my gall bladder removed a year ago. A year has passed since then and I have lots of pain in the area where the gall bladder was. I have had X rays and no stones show up.

I have heard if one has stones that aren't removed they can cause cancer. Is there any other way except by X ray that they can locate gall stones?

DEAR READER — In general, there are two types of gall stones but there can be mixtures of materials that form stones. The stones formed chiefly from cholesterol are not opaque on X rays. That is why a person takes gall bladder dye before a gall bladder examination.

The dye is opaque and concentrates inside the gall bladder. The transparent cholesterol stones then stand out from the solid appearing dye and can be seen.

The stones made from bile pigment are small, hard stones that are visible on X rays without dye and some stones contain other minerals that make them visible.

The opaque stones can be seen by X ray even if they are in the bile system after the gall bladder has been removed, and if you inject opaque material the others can be seen as well. There are techniques to visualize by X ray the entire biliary tree.

Discomfort from abnormal drainage of the bile may still be present after an operation. Then there is that frequent problem that the pain the patient was bothered with may not have been caused by the gall stones at all, even if stones were present. The main offender here is pain in the colon. In the upper right abdomen over the liver area. A spastic colon often causes pain in this area whether or not the person has gall stones. When the gall stones are seen on X ray, it is then assumed that they are the cause of the pain —which may not be the case at all.

In such a case, after the gall stones are removed the spastic colon persists and the pain in the upper right abdomen persists too. The patient may think it is because the gall bladder disease has not been cured, but the truth may be the gall bladder never had anything to do with the pain.

That doesn't mean the gall bladder should not have removed. The weight of evidence is in favor of removing a diseased gall bladder if you have a good surgeon available and are otherwise in good health and unlikely to have complications from surgery. I might add that all the surgeons I know tell me they are very good, but some of them seem to have better results than others.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 4-8, Gall Stones and Gall Bladder Disease, to give you more information. Others who want information on this subject can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for this issue to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

If you have colon complaints, you may need to go on a program to improve your colon function, including increasing the cereal bulk in your diet.

There is an increased incidence of cancer of gall bladders with stones. Since yours has been removed, I think you don't need to worry about that.

College Flood Leaves Behind Disrupted Lives

TOCCOA, Ga. (AP) — Unbroken 100-watt lightbulbs rest atop the muck and debris, just yards from cars crushed and trailer homes overturned by the wall of water that smashed into Toccoa Falls Bible College.

"Up that way there were four brick houses. I knew everybody who lived there ... Now most of them are gone," said Dr. Harold Windus, director of elementary education at the tiny school.

Everywhere was evidence of family life disrupted.

Part of a child's tricycle and a pink and yellow baby book, its pages blank, were stuck in the mud. Mattresses, torn and muddied, reminded that most of the 38 victims were asleep when disaster struck.

The few houses that still stand are stained by a muddy waterline.

Officials want to know whose responsibility it was to inspect the 37-year-old Kelly Barnes earthen dam, which apparently broke under the stress of an 80-acre lake swollen by heavy rains.

Survivors today are digging out of the ruins of their homes and classrooms — and preparing to bury their friends and family members who perished in the flood waters Sunday.

Bill Anderson, a Bible college student from Glen Dale, Md., lost his wife, Karen, 29, and two of their five children — Joey and Becky — when their trailer was ripped apart by the roaring current. Services for them will be held here at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

Services for six other victims are scheduled at the Toccoa Alliance Church at 2 p.m. Wednesday. Most of the victims will be buried in their hometowns around the country.

The search continues for the body of Paul Williams, 76, a college maintenance worker and the only person unaccounted for.

The body of Dr. Jerry Sproull, 45, a theology professor, was found late Monday beneath an air conditioner only a short distance from where his home had stood.

The bodies of his three children, were recovered with 34 others Sunday. His wife, Pat Sproull, survived.

Windus surveyed the battered town of 9,000 and expressed disbelief at the courage shown by members of the interdenominational college.

"I guess because they are Christian young men and women when tragedy does strike, they have some inner strength," he said.

One young women spoke of God's presence on campus. "We pray He'll raise spiritual giants from among us," said Lorene Hays, 24, a senior from Utica, N.Y.

"I know that it is God's college," said Dale Griffis, 22, a student from Albion, Pa. "So therefore God will take care of his people."

ALL THEY COULD FIND: Mike and Diana Clayton, students at Toccoa Falls Bible College carry what few belongings they could find Monday in the area of the trailer park at the school. The area was destroyed by flash flood Sunday morning. Thirty-eight people were killed. (AP Laserphoto)

Milliken Gets State Business Tax Hike

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Threatened with a federal tax hike, the Legislature has voted to increase the state's business tax which provides benefits to those out of work.

The state hopes the boost in taxes will pay off a whopping $624 million debt to Washington before the federal government levies its own higher tax to recoup its money.

The measure passed the Senate 32-0 Monday night and was sent to Gov. William Milliken for his signature. The governor has said he will sign the legislation.

The bill revises the state's tax system to pay benefits to out-of work residents in an attempt to get the state fund back on solid ground. It was prompted by the inability of Michigan businesses to keep up with jobless pay demands and the need to pay off the federal debt.

That debt was created when the state was forced to borrow money from the federal government to maintain unemployment benefits at the height of the recent recession, when Michigan's jobless rate skyrocketed.

Under the bill, firms with a stable work force will pay generally the same tax or slightly less. Companies which have been forced to lay off a lot of employees during the last few years will pay more.

The tax, ranging from 1 percent to 9 percent, will depend largely on a company's record of layoffs. It would be levied on the first $6,000 of wages paid each employee, to be raised from the current $5,400.

The federal government has said it will begin reducing a tax credit now allowed the state under the federal unemployment compensation tax if the state does not act by Nov. 10.

Such a credit reduction would raise the federal levy from its current seven-tenths of one percent by three-tenths of a percent a year until the debt was paid off.

That penalty still could be applied if the state enacts a new funding system, but will be delayed for three years to give Michigan a chance to pay off the deficit.

Witnesses Say RR Signals Didn't Work

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — Eyewitnesses who watched as two Dearborn Heights residents were killed and their car demolished by a train contend the warning signals at the crossing did not work, police said.

One of the witnesses told officers she narrowly escaped being hit in the same collision.

The two motorists told police they were concerned about "erroneous" statements attributed to Amtrak officials in news accounts following the accident Sunday.

Rail authorities said the crossing gate was down and warning signals were activated before Shirley Welker drove across the tracks. She and her 13-year-old son, David, were killed.

Lt. Jack Artman of the Dearborn traffic safety division said one witness was a "woman who had entered the crossing in the northbound lane and found the train bearing down on her. She stepped on the gas and blew the horn of her car to warn Mrs. Welker, who was approaching the tracks from the opposite side, but it was too late."

Artman said the other witness was a northbound motorist who stopped in time. That witness also said there was no warning signal before the crash. But the second driver said the barrier gate "bounced down briefly at the moment of impact, then rose back up again," according to Artman.

Meeting Soothes CMU-Dow Rift

MOUNT PLEASANT, Mich. (AP) — The strained relations between Central Michigan University and Dow Chemical Co. are returning to normal, but there may be a shortage of campus speakers for a while.

Grants to the university from Dow USA, the chemical company's principal domestic subsidiary, remain suspended in the aftermath of an Oct. 10 speech in which Jane Fonda criticized the firm.

But apparently feelings have been soothed as the result of a weekend meeting between CMU president Harold Abel and Dow USA president Paul Orreffice.

"As part of the settlement with CMU over Dow USA funds, Orreffice will speak at CMU in 1978 and also may sponsor a symposium on free enterprise. All future grants from Dow to CMU currently are suspended," CMU president Harold Abel said after a weekend meeting with Paul F. Oreffice, president of Dow USA.

Dow USA's grants last year were about $75,000.

Abel said that on his part he made no promises. "The university was not asked to make any promises concerning our future behaviour and we did not make any," Abel said.

The two men said in a joint statement that Dow's current suspension of aid applied only to future direct grants and gifts and did not affect aid already committed or the company's matching gift program.

Meanwhile, the Association for Women Students, one of the sponsors of Miss Fonda's Oct. 10 speech, said it did not want her back and did not want Oreffice either.

Miss Fonda had offered to return to CMU for another speech, with her fee being allocated to a charity.

"We feel that having either Miss Fonda or Oreffice on campus would serve no purpose at this time," AWS said.

First word of the weekend meeting between Abel and Oreffice came in a copyrighted story in Monday's edition of the Central Michigan Life, the student newspaper.

Object May Be A Tiny 10th Planet

By ROGER GILLOTT
Associated Press Writer

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A 36-year-old astronomer who discovered two of Jupiter's 14 moons now has found what may be the 10th and tiniest known planet in the solar system.

But no decision has been made on whether the object is indeed a planet or something else, Dennis Meredith, a spokesman for the California Institute of Technology, said Monday.

"It's not an asteroid, a moon of another planet or a comet," Meredith said of the object discovered last Tuesday by Charles Kowal. "But I think the problem with calling it a planet is that astronomers have never run across anything so small with all the orbital characteristics of a planet."

The object he found is between 100 and 400 miles in diameter and is orbiting the sun between Saturn and Uranus "on roughly the same plane as all other planets in the solar system. It is 1.5 billion miles from earth and takes an estimated 115 years to circle the sun.

Redlining Ban Effective July 1

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A measure prohibiting discriminatory "redlining" has been signed into law by Gov. William Milliken, in an effort to rebuild the state's decaying urban areas.

Milliken signed the bill — hailed as a model for the nation — in a special ceremony in the House chambers Monday. The signing was attended by dozens of persons who worked for the bill's passage.

Redlining is the practice of denying mortgages, or giving less favorable terms, in certain neighborhoods because of their racial makeup or age of the homes.

"We have today taken a major step toward the preservation of our neighborhoods," Milliken said. "Healthy, livable neighborhoods are essential to the health of our cities, and therefore to the well being of the entire state."

Rep. William Bryant, R-Grosse Pointe, the sponsor of the legislation, said, "It is an exciting step in the efforts of all of us to rejuvenate our older neighborhoods."

Rep. David Hollister, D-Lansing, who worked on the measure, said passage of the law, which takes effect on July 1, 1978, was proof that the state could take positive steps to help its ailing cities.

"This is not the federal government solving our problem, but Michigan," Hollister said.

The law is the product of months of work by a statewide task force and various citizens groups. Its goal is to combat the decline of older, urban neighborhoods by ensuring that loans are more readily available for home buyers and those who want to fix up their houses.

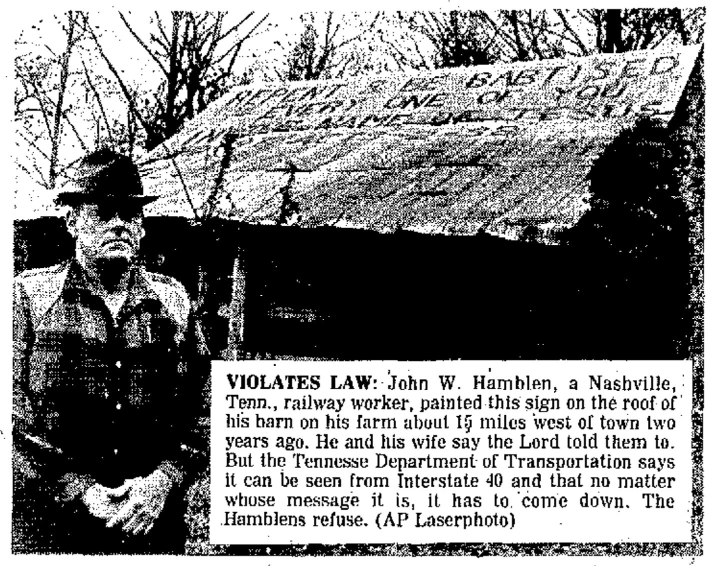
The law prohibits redlining of the basis of racial or ethnic characteristics, and specifies that the age of a building cannot be used as a reason for denying a loan.

It imposes stiff requirements on banks and other lending institutions to divulge in what neighborhoods loans are made, the number of loans granted and their amount, and why loans are refused.

Mortgages as small as $5,000 must be provided under the law. Some lenders currently refuse to grant morgages for less than $10,000.

The low carries a maximum $10,000 fine, and anyone who is redlined could seek a court injunction blocking the action.

Milliken also signed a companion measure which gives the Michigan State Housing Development Authority the power to issue bonds to rehabilitate moderate-and-low-income housing.



VIOLATES LAW: John W. Hamblen, a Nashville, Tenn., railway worker, painted this sign on the roof of his barn on his farm about 15 miles west of town two years ago. He and his wife say the Lord told them to. But the Tennesse Department of Transportation says it can be seen from Interstate 40 and that no matter whose message it is, it has to come down. Program Chief Says Records To Prove Innocence

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Government officials say it probably will take them several months to sort through 21 boxes of paper, three briefcases, and other records involved in the investigation of a million-dollar economic development program at Duluth.

Donald Boyd, Brimson, who had been subpoenaed to produce personal and business records, made his first appearance Monday before a federal grand jury conducting the investigation.

He brought with him a U-Haul trailer containing 21 boxes and said the mass of paper would prove he did nothing wrong as head of the program. He said his accountant brought 14,000 more records.

The U.S. Commerce Department auditors say there were not enough receipts, vouchers and other evidence to show where $1 million went over the last six years.

Boyd was head of the Duluth Area Economic Development Office and Northern Minnesota Small Business Center which received money from the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission, a federal-state agency to improve economic conditions in 119 northern counties of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan.

Boyd's supervisor at the commission office in Duluth was Michael Pintar, an appointee of former Gov. Wendell Anderson.

It was reported Monday that Anderson and members of his staff traveled extensively around the country on Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission federal funds.

The practice was legal because the commission staff met regularly at governors' conferences. But commission officials say the governors of Wisconsin and Michigan, who also sat on the commission with Anderson, did not charge trips to the commission.

Anderson charged nearly $100,000 for plane tickets to the commission account between June 1973 and last fall.

The records show that Anderson took nine members of his staff, including two body guards, on a four-day trip to a national governors conference in New Orleans in June 1975. Their plane tickets, which cost $2,292.78, and a portion of the remaining $3,991.61 in expenses picked up by the state where charged to the commission.

Thomas Kelm, Anderson's executive secretary, and currently top aide in Anderson's Senate office in Washington, said the governor and his staff also attended a meeting of the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission held at the same time in New Orleans.

The governor's office gets about $135,000 a year in special federal funds for administration of the Upper Great Lakes commission program in Minnesota.

John Premble, the accountant for the governor's office, said Kelm directed him to charge travel by Anderson's office to the commission account whenever some part of it could be attributed to the commission business. He said Perpich stopped the practice.

Ann Arbor Election Fight

Tell Vote, Court Rules

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A University of Michigan pre-law student cannot refuse to tell a judge how she voted in an Ann Arbor mayoral election because her ballot was improperly cast, the state Court of Appeals ruled today.

Susan R. VanHattum, 21, had refused say whether she voted for Democratic Mayor Albert Wheeler or his Republican challenger, Lewis Belcher.

Belcher filed suit challenging Wheeler's right to hold office and alleging voter fraud after the Democrat claimed a one-vote victory in the April 4 election.

When a judge asked her to reveal how she voted, Ms. VanHattum said the ballot is a matter of secrecy which can't be violated. The appellate court agreed with her on that point, but said her ballot and those of 19 other voters were improperly cast because city officials didn't notice their addresses weren't within the city limits.

Although this error wasn't Ms. VanHattum's fault, the court said, the vote still cannot be kept secret as officials attempt to determine the actual outcome of the election.

Michigan law holds that the constitutional right of secrecy in voting does not extend to persons who are not qualified to vote, the court said.

"In the present case, determining for whom the illegal votes were cast could prevent manifest injustice ...," the court said, adding that the illegal votes "should not elect to office someone whom the qualified voters would not have elected."

In ruling the 20 votes were illegal, the court said Ms. VanHattum and the others weren't at fault because they believed they lived within the city limits.

Wheeler received 10,660 votes and claimed a victory. Belcher, who received 10,659 votes, said 20 of the ballots were cast by people who didn't live in the city and another three votes were illegal. The latter three votes were not covered in the appeal to the state court.

Belcher had asked Washtenaw County Circuit Judge James Kelley to determine for whom the 20 ballots were cast. Three people revealed their ballots, but Ms. VanHattum and another coed, Diane Lazinsky, refused, setting the wheels in motion for a ruling by the appellate court.

He'd Make Test Tougher

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Tougher testing would be required to obtain a license to operate tandem trucks under legislation pending in the state Senate. Sen. David Plawecki of Dearborn Heights said the current written test for chauffeur's licenses to operate the big rigs is too general. The driving portion of the test often is conducted in a compact car, he said. Plawecki's bill would require a tough written examination and road test. It also would set up a special classification for a person who drives or tows heavy vehicles. The bill was introduced to help ensure that tandem truck drivers meet the requirement for increased training in operating the vehicles as outlined in the state fire marshal's emergency rules.

High Court Will Decide Nuclear Liability Extent

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's nuclear energy industry is involved in a Supreme Court fight that could determine its future growth — and possibly its existence.

The court agreed Monday to decide whether power plant operators may be sued for the total amount of damage caused by some future nuclear catastrophe. At present, a $560 million ceiling on court awards is set by federal law.

Congress estabilished the limit to encourage private development of nuclear energy. Government lawyers argue that if plant owners cannot be shielded from unlimited liability for nuclear accidents, no such plants would be built because insurance is not available.

But last March, U.S. District Judge James B. McMillan in Charlotte, N.C., struck down the federal law as unconstitutional. He said it violated the due-process and equal-protection rights of those persons who might someday suffer injury in a nuclear catastrophe.

The Carolina Environmental Study Group, long opposed to a pair of Duke Power Co. nuclear plants in the Charlotte area, challenged the law. Their victory was appealed to the nation's highest court by the federal Nuclear Regulatory Commission and by Duke Power.

In a 47-page decision, McMillan ruled that "the probability of a major nuclear accident producing damages exceeding the $560 million limit ... is not fanciful but real ...

"The court is not a bookie," he added. "This case can concern itself too much with the mathematical odds for or against a particular nuclear catastrophe.

"The question is not whether a nuclear catastrophe is more or less likely than a tornado, an earthquake or a collision with a comet," he said. "The significant conclusion is that under the odds quoted ... a nuclear catastrophe is a real, not fanciful, possibility."

McMillan's decision does not ignore what the impact of his ruling will be if it is allowed to stand. Without the liability protection offered by Congress, he said, "power companies would probably not be able to obtain the necessary financing, supplies and architectural skills to build nuclear power plants and to maintain them."

In successfully seeking Supreme Court review, Justice Department lawyers argued that McMillan's decision, if left intact, "could stand as a major impediment to further private development of nuclear energy in this nation."

Aussies Unveil New Pesticide

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — Australian scientists have developed a new range of insecticides which preliminary tests indicate are among the most potent in the world and yet are harmless to humans and animals. Science Minister James Webster announced today.

Webster's statement said scientists of the government-financed Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organization synthesized 18 new biodegradable pesticides called insecticidal esters and are now seeking companies to collaborate with them on further development and testing.

BUCHANAN TOWNSHIP

Zoning Rules Readied

BUCHANAN — The Buchanan Township Board Monday night set a meeting for Nov. 21 at 8 p.m. in the township hall for presentation of the proposed new township zoning ordinance and land use maps.

Township Supervisor Kenneth Jones said the board and township planning commission would be at the meeting. He also said he has invited the Buchanan City Commission and the city planning commission to the meeting so they might look at the ordinance.

In other areas, a heated debate grew out of a township resident's contention that he is being charged fees to look at public records. Fred Hankins told the board he was being charged for examining township tax records, a public document. The board contended that the charges were for making copies of the documents which Hankins requested and for a secretary's time in looking up the records and making the copies.

The board in February set fees of 25 cents per copy for documents and $3 per hour for a secretary's time. The board agreed to recommend to the Berrien County Road Commission that it put up signs alerting motorists of factory entrances on Terre Coupe Road. The action came at the request of Fapco, Inc., located on the road. The company contends that it has a high volume of heavy truck traffic entering and exiting its plant. The signs will include another company located on the road, Industrial Machine Works.

Jones told the board that the township would be receiving $7,800 in federal anti-recession funds in 1978. The board voted to use $2,810 for roof repairs on the township hall and the rest to purchase township supplies.

Jones announced that dog licenses would be available at the township hall from Dec. 1 through March 1. He said dog owners must have a certificate that their dogs have received rabies vaccination. The board voted to designate Nov. 14-20 as Youth Appreciation Week in response to a request from the Niles Optimist Club.

New Decatur Well Okay; To Seek Road Crossing

DECATUR — The village of Decatur will ask the State Highways Department for permission to cut across M-51 to hook up a new village water well with existing water mains, the village council learned Monday night.

Tom Deneau, of Wightman & Associates, St. Joseph engineers, said he would seek permission from the state after announcing a test on a new well proved to be good.

The test well, now to become permanent, is located east of the village. Deneau said the test showed the 12-inch well capable of pumping 3,000 gallons of water per minute and that water from the well was good.

The village's option to purchase the land for the well from Henry Mejia, Decatur, hinged in a good test.

In a related area, the council adopted a motion to hire rate consultants Stauder, Burch & Associates, Grosse Pointe Farms, to make a study of village water rates. The study will be made to determine the rates to be charged for repayment of a $550,000 loan made to improve the village water system, including the new well, a water tower and improvements to water mains.

In other areas, the council set a special Nov. 21 public hearing, to begin at 7 p.m., on Modar Inc.'s request for a 50 per cent tax break on a planned $120,000 improvement project to its plant in the village.

It eventually approved by the village and state, the firm would receive a 50 per tax break for 12 years on the cost of improving the plant.

The council voted to remove signs prohibiting right turns on red lights at the intersection of Delaware and Phelps streets. Right turns on red lights on all four corners of the intersection will now be permitted.

In a related area, the council discussed, but took no action, on a proposa that all street signs in the village be replaced to conform with signs required by the state. In 1975, the state would have paid 90 per cent of the cost, but that figure has now dropped to 70 per cent and the village's share is estimated at $4,600.

Clerk Harry Schmidt told the council that by 1979, the village would have to find additional means of paying off bonds on a 1971 sewer improvement project other than tap-in fees. When the project was installed, it was estimated there would be 1,000 tap-ins, but Schmidt reported to date there have been only 750 and another means of funding would be needed.

The council approved a measure permitting necessary steps to be taken to improve drainage on a lot purchased by the village in June, and located on an alley off Sherwood Street.

Purchase of 50 tons of road salt from John G. Yerington Concrete Co., Benton Harbor, at a cost of $18.50 per ton, was approved.

Clayton Mourning, Cassopolis, was hired to remove five trees in the village and trim another tree at a total cost of $335.

Clerk Schmidt reported that two trees have been planted at the Pope Medical Center, as a gift from Mrs. Dalton Rose, St. Louis, Mo. He said Mrs. Rose has requested that two more trees be planted at the Lake of the Woods park in memory of her late husband, Dr. Dalton Rose, who formerly practiced in Decatur.

Purchase of 50 village ordinance books, from Ordinance Systems, Oshtemo, at a cost of $1,656, was approved.

Tips Lead To Arrest In Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Federal authorities say tips from informants led to the arrest of a reputed figure in the Chicago underworld on charges of heroin possession.

Joseph LoPiccolo, 59, was arraigned Monday on a charge of possessing 10 ounces of Mexican heroin. U.S. Magistrate Paul Komives set bond at $50,000.

FBI and Federal Drug Enforcement Administration agents said the heroin had a street value of $150,000.

LaPiccolo, convicted in New York in 1959 for attempting to distribute 38 pounds of French heroin and opium, served nine years of a 20-year prison term.

He was arrested Friday at a motel on Detroit's east side.

Fight's Over?

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter says there is "good, perhaps unprecedented communication" among federal agencies fighting drug abuse.

Carter on Monday praised cooperation between the Justice and Treasury departments, which have fought before over running drug control programs.

Lee Twp. Told Medical Clinic Grant Bid Filed

PULLMAN — The Lee Township Board was told Monday night that an application has been submitted to the federal government for the establishment of a medical clinic here.

According to Trustee Nelvin DeWeerd, Allegan General Hospital, Allegan, has made application to the federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare for a $150,000 grant to construct a clinic. He told the board the clinic would serve the townships of Lee, Casco, Clyde, Cheshire, Gaines and Valley, all in southwestern Allegan County.

DeWeerd said the grant application is through HEW's rural health initiative program. He said a meeting on the proposal is to be held in Grand Rapids Nov. 21.

In other areas, the board voted to appoint DeWeerd as acting fire chief for a 60-day trial period. He will replace former chief Wayne Blanchard who resigned last month. T.C. Blanchard, Wayne Blanchard's uncle, was named temporary acting chief for one month when Wayne Blanchard resigned, according to Township Clerk Melvin Riston. T.C. Blanchard will resume his post as assistant fire chief, Riston said.

The board approved the sale of surplus fire department radio equipment to Fred Rawson, a township resident, for $550. Rawson submitted the lone bid on the five radios, base receiver and radio tower.

In related action, the board tabled a request from the fire department for new radio equipment in order to seek additional information.

The board voted to purchase a used gas furnace for $100 for the fire department. The board approved the National Electrical Code for use in the township.

Supervisor Edward Yatzke announced that new dump hours in the township would begin Dec. 1. The new hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturdays only.

Zoning Commissioner Maynard McGregor told the board he had issued five building permits and two mobile home permits during October.

Township Roads Get U.S. Funds

THREE OAKS — The Three Oaks Township Board Monday night voted to spend an estimated $12,647 it expects to receive in federal revenue sharing funds for 1978 on improvement of township roads.

The vote, which continues a past board practice, came following a public hearing called to seek opinions on how the funds should be spent.

In a related area, Robert Todd, township supervisor, announced all road work scheduled this year has been completed. He said Phillips Road would be the first road to be improved next spring.

In other areas, the board also approved the purchase of a tractor mower from Clay Service Center, South Bend, Ind., at $1,500, with trade-in. The firm submitted the lowest of four bids.

The board approved changing the name of Clapp Road, located northeast of Three Oaks, to Knebel Road, in honor of a long-time farm family, now headed by George Knebel Sr. The name change must also be approved by the Chikaming Township Board, because a portion of the road extends into that township.

Todd announced here is a possibility the state license bureau in the village will be closed unless more suitable quarters are found. He said he planned to contact the village council on the matter. The office is located on Linden Street, and the village and township split payment of rent for the building. It is open one day a week on Wednesdays.

A proposal to adopt a new state electrical code was discussed, but not acted upon until Todd investigates the matter further.

The board approved use of the township hall by a U.S. Navy recruiter, from 3 to 5 p.m. on Tuesdays.

CHAMP STEER TO UNITED WAY: R. Vijayaraghavan (center), owner of the Bonanza Steak House at 1675 S. M-139, Benton Township, has donated the grand champion steer from 1977 Berrien County Youth Fair to Blossomland United Way (BUW). He is shown handing ownership papers for animal, which Bonanza purchased at auction for $2,806, to Ron Zwar, BUW's Benton Township chairman. Looking on is R. Frank Valenzano, Bonanza director of operations. Bonanza and BUW are trying to sell steer for $1,000, Zwar said. Bonanza wants the donation given to the foster care program operated by the Child and Family Services of Michigan's St. Joseph office. Zwar said the steer, a 1,200-pound Simmentol Angus named "Bud," is still being kept by Pam Durm, its original owner. (Staff photo)

Lake Twp. Board Meets

Sewer Line Plan Okayed

BRIDGMAN — The Lake Township Board approved a proposed agreement Monday night for a sanitary sewer collection service through township property for the new Reed Middle School.

The proposed agreement between the township, Bridgman city and the Bridgman School Board must still be presented to the city for approval.

The new Reed Middle School is just outside the Bridgman city limits. In order for it to be serviced by the city, sewer lines must go through some 1,200 feet of Lake Township property.

In other areas, it was reported that the township board at a special meeting Oct. 14, approved extending township water transmission mains along Browntown Road and in the Tower Hill subdivision. The action also included extending the main on Linco Road from Jericho Road to Red Arrow Highway, to complete a water loop.

The board gave Wade Shuler, township supervisor, authority to hire someone to level the house on the east side of the township hall and then burn it. The rubble will then be cleared away for expansion of the township hall. The board purchased the property earlier for $15,000 from Lorraine Robbins.

The board approved depositing some $50,000 collected from water tap-ins into a passbook savings account to earn interest.

At the request of Norm Zelmer, township fire chief, the board approved compensating its firemen $10 per meeting for attending fire fighters training school. The 22-meeting course (66 hours of training) would be held in the area if at least 12 firemen sign up for it, Zelmer said. The board stipulated firemen would not be paid until they had completed the course and successfully passed the exam.

The board approved removing medical equipment from the old township ambulance and turning the vehicle over to the water department to use as a utility vehicle.

The board approved adopting the Michigan Electrical Code and designated William Truhn, township electrical inspector. Truhn was also inspector under the old township code.

Tires, Wheels On Police 'Stolen' List

Benton Township police said tires and wheels valued at a total of $550 were reported stolen from three cars in the East Napier Avenue and Plaza Drive area Sunday night or Monday morning.

Patrolman Jim Windsor said two wheels with tires valued at $350 were stolen from an auto owned by Verna Steward, of 780 Dixie Drive, Stevensville. He reported the Steward car was parked in a lot at Ashley Ford Sales 1074 E. Napier, awaiting repairs when the theft occurred.

In a second theft report, Windsor said a tire and wheel were stolen from each of two cars owned by Larry Green, of 1079 Michigan, St. Joseph. The officer reported both cars were parked in a lot at the Fairplain Plaza maintanance garage, located on Plaza Drive at the rear of the plaza.

Value of the tires stolen from Green was estimated at a total of $200, according to Windsor.

Windsor said the maintanance garage is located behind Ashley Ford's paint shop and officers are investigating a possible link between the thefts from the Steward and Green autos.

In other thefts reported to Benton Township police, Meta Fleming, of 1778 Council Drive, reported a television, a radio and two speakers were stolen from her home late Sunday or early Monday.

Tom Thompson, of 368 Higman Park Road, said a rifle and a shotgun were stolen from his residence Monday between 6:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m.

Berrien sheriff's deputies reported Ernest Albright, of 3782 Bundy Road, Hagar Township, told them a 16-foot boat valued at $85 was stolen from a wooded area behind his home some time since Oct. 25.

Deputies said Kennet Heston, of Mishawaka, Ind., reported fishing equipment and clothing valued at a total of $45 was stolen from the rear of his pickup truck which was parked near the Berrien Springs Dam while he was fishing in the St. Joseph River Monday afternoon.

Farm Strike 'Irresponsible'

CHICAGO (AP) — Former U.S. Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz says a strike by farmers would be "irresponsible," and he suggests they make specific requests to Congress instead.

Butz told newsmen during the American Meat Institute convention this week that too few farmers would participate in a strike to make it feasible.

Berrien Springs Again Seeks $250,000 Loan

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The Berrien Springs Village Council Monday night agreed to again seek a $250,000 federal loan for expansion of its water syste.

According to Edward Kesterke, village president, the village has received an encouraging response from the federal Farmers Home Administration for the first time in four years.

The village has applied for loans several times during that period, but each time was told that no money was available.

Kesterke said the council has been invited to a meet with FHA officials in Lansing Nov. 29 to discuss the possibility of a 40-year loan at five per percent interest.

In a related area, the council turned down a request to hook into the village water system from the Cum Laude Motel, US-31. The council indicated the denial was based on the current capacity of the water system. Approval would hinge on water system expansion, the council indicated.

In other action, a request to rezone two lots from residential to commercial was turned over to village attorney Jerry Johnson for review.

The request came from real estate broker William Keeklaylo on behalf of Mr. and Mrs. William Shembarger. He said the Shembargers want to operate a television repair service at the location in the 200 block of North Mechanic Street.

The council expressed concern that if the area is zoned commercial and the property is later sold, an objectionable business may be located there. Johnson was asked by the board to study the zoning ordinance to determine if use of the property can be restricted after any rezoning.

The council approved a request from Rev. Brady Hart, of the Evangelistic Tabernacle, to erect a modular home on the church property at 424 S. Mechanic St. The structure would serve as a parsonage.

Dale Moon, chairman of the council fire committee, reported that a used tanker truck purchased recently is now being sandblasted and painted. When fully refurbished, the tanker will be capable of pumping 2,000 gallons of water, Moon said.

The council noted that some residents have been burning leaves in the street and reiterated that leaves cannot be burned in the street. Leaves may be burned off the street.

Toxic Waste Plan Eyed

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill giving the state Department of Natural Resources broad powers to deal with the disposal of hazardous or toxic wastes has been proposed by the House Republican leader. The measure, being drafted by Rep. Dennis Cawthorne, R-Muskegon, directs the DNR to specify certain wastes as hazardous and then develop a plan for handling them.

Contaminated animal carcasses, such as PBB-tainted cattle, could be included under the bill, Cawthorne said. Types and location of facilities are not spelled out, but both incinerators and burial sites could be involved, either private or state-operated. The bill also establishes a $500,000 emergency fund to be used by the DNR to combat waste emergencies. Cawthorne said the measure should be ready for formal introduction in the House next week.

Student Tells Of Gymnasium Fatal Accident

A 14-year-old ninth grader at St. Joseph High School Monday described events leading to the death of a companion in a ladder accident in the high school's auxiliary gymnasium last week.

Killed was Timothy Spitler, 14, also a ninth grader. He died Saturday morning of injuries received in the fall about 6:40 p.m. last Thursday.

Timothy was accompanied at the time by Mark Kuntz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Kuntz, 521 Kingsley Ave., St. Joseph. Mark said neither he nor Timothy moved or erected the ladder.

High School Principal Richard Higgs earlier Monday said the vertical locking ladder, about 20 to 25 feet tall, and mounted on four wheels, was used to change light bulbs in the gymnasium. Higgs said the ladder was collapsed and put away and the gymnasium locked up with lights out at the time. The principal this morning repeated his statement that the ladder was folded down when the junior varsity basketball team and coach Tony Bruno closed and locked the gymnasium at 5 p.m. Thursday.

Mark described events, saying he and Timothy knocked on a locked door of the gymnasium. After waiting a short time, a boy alone inside opened the door.

Mark said he and Timothy each had their own basketballs and were shooting baskets for about 15 minutes. Mark said he and Timothy then decided to put on their gym suits, which were in lockers accessible from the gymnasium.

Mark said at this point the boy that had opened the door for them left, but first warned the two to stay off the ladder. Mark said when he first saw the ladder, it was near a wall at mid-court, with the vertical portion already up. Mark said during regular classes for some time past, the ladder has been in the same location, but collapsed. Mark said he doesn't know who raised the vertical arm.

Mark said he continued shooting baskets while Timothy climbed the ladder to a bucket portion at the top.

Mark said Timothy shot a basket from the ladder and when Mark went to fetch the ball from the floor heard Timothy shout, "Mark."

Mark said when he turned around, Timothy was on the floor and the vertical portion had collapsed.

Principal Higgs reported that gymnasium doors were locked and the only lights in the gymnasium were from exit signs above doors.

Mark said one door at the opposite end of the gymnasium from where he and Timothy entered was propped open by a prop arm at the top. Mark said this let in some light. Mark said he and Timothy also propped open the door they were let in to gain more light.

Mark said he found help from a janitor and another man, and the two soon were joined by an AAU swimming team coach and several people who were swimming in the pool in another nearby area of the school. Mark said ambulance attendants rolled the ladder wheels (which remained upright) to get to Timothy, lying near the bucket. Mark said he rode in the ambulance with Timothy to the hospital where he remained until Timothy's parents arrived.

South Haven Fire Contract Approved

SOUTH HAVEN — A three-year labor agreement with full-time firemen was approved by the South Haven City Council Monday night.

The labor pact With the city's eight full-time firemen is the first negotiated independently by the firefighters who broke away from their previous affiliation with other city employees.

The new agreement, which is retroactive to April 15, calls for a $700 across-the-board increase for all classifications each year during the life of the contract, except starting pay.

The starting pay was increased from $7,200 to $10,000 the first year of the contract and increased $500 per year for each following year.

At the top end of the firefighter classification, the pay is to be this fiscal year $12,189. In the captain classification, the pay will be this year $13,972.

A cost-of-living clause was also included in the pact and the number of vacation days was increased from 12 to 13½ with addition of half-days on Good Friday and prior to Christmas and New Years.

In other areas, the council approved a two-year fire protection contract with South Haven Township. Under the pact, the township will pay the city $90,173 the first year compared to $19,900 it paid in the previous 12 months for fire protection. The contract is retroactive to Jan. 1.

The boost came in a rate change sought by the council earlier this year and then revised because of township objections. The city initially had sought revenue equal to what a two-mill rate would yield in the township on taxable property value. The level was cut to 1.5 mills after the township objected.

Under the old pact, the revenue was equal to what a three-mill yield would be on assessed property value.

The council set two hearings in connection with the Wyckoff Chemical Co., which is building a plant in the city's industrial park.

The first hearing will be held Nov. 21, to consider a request to make the site an industrial development district. Creation of the district would enable the firm to seek property tax relief.

The second hearing on Dec. 5 will consider zoning the land to general industrial. The property was automatically zoned residential when it was annexed from South Haven township into the city.

Boy Scout troop 199 of South Haven was given permission to sell Christmas wrapping paper in the city on Dec. 2-3 and the South Haven council of Campfire Girls was authorized to sell candy from Nov. 19 to Dec. 3.

The Council awarded approved purchase of a utility tractor for the street department from Louis Gelder and Sons, Millburg, on the firm's low bid of $6,391.

The Council also approved purchase of two mobile radios for the street department from Winkel Communication, South Haven. The firm bid $1,529.90 for the order. The figure was $1.90 higher than the low bid from Motorola of Kalamazoo.

Coloma Township Missing $40,000

request be denied.

The board took under advisement the hiring of the Berrien County Data Processing Service to prepare its 1,100 monthly utility bills.

The board voted to include a monthly health officer report among its reports beginning in December.

The action followed criticism by Andrew Kucinsky on why the board receives no reports on the activities of its health officer.

A complaint was filed by Octave (Ace) Schinck, owner of Ace's Garage, Lake Michigan Beach, that he was not receiving many calls for his wrecker service from township police.

Schinck said he did not favor another wrecker service having exclusive wrecker service in the area.

Schinck said his wrecker is available evenings when he returns home. He resides on Island Court in the township.

The board informed Schinck no one has exclusive service for wrecker calls in the township and he (Schinck) would be receiving calls in the future.

The board voted four to one to hire Benton Township Plumbing Inspector Ted Nixon on a temporary basis to perform plumbing inspections in the township for a fee of $22.50 per inspection.

The action was taken by the board until it can determine if it will hire a township plumbing inspector or let state inspectors undertake the inspections.

Casting the only no vote was Clerk Jack Page. Page said he favored letting the state inspectors do the work. Voting yes were Krieger, and Palmer and Trustees William Kennedy and Nona Stewart.

The board approved the purchase of a 1978 Plymouth squad car from Rod Motors, Benton Harbor, for $5,801. The bid was the third highest of six bids submitted for the new car to replace a squad car.

Kennedy and Miss Stewart, township representatives on a committee overseeing operation of the combined township-Coloma City fire department, said the committee had authorized bids be sought for a new panel truck and radio equipment for the fire department.

The township is to pay 60 percent of the costs and the city 40 percent, the representatives said.

Baroda Refers Zoning Request

BARODA — The Baroda Village Council referred a zoning request from St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church to its planning commission Monday night.

The planning commission is in the process of developing a village zoning ordinance and map and the council said the church's request will be considered by the planning commission.

Gary Sommers, president of church congregation, had requested that property owned by the church, at the corner of Second and Center Streets be zoned multiple-family residential. The former five-bedroom church parsonage would be easier to sell if it could be offered as a multiple-family dwelling, Sommers said.

The planning commission will be holding a public hearing on the proposed village zoning ordinance Nov. 21, at 8 p.m. at the town hall.

In other areas, the council approved its last housing rehabilitation grant request, in the form of a $747 loan interest supplement loan to Walter Tilly, 9110 Second St.

Jerry Pilley, council president, reminded the council that since the HUD grant money was nearly depleted, it is time to consider reapplying to HUD for future housing rehabilitation grants. The city earlier this year received a $150,000 HUD grant.

The council also received a letter from Weldon Burden, Berrien County Manpower director, requesting the council participate in Title-6 Comprehensive Employment Training Act funding. Burden's letter said funding is available, but the county will lose it if participation does not increase.

The board took no action on the matter Monday night.

The council said it had no objections to the request for the transfer of a liquor license from Arthur W. Petzke, owner of Art's Bar, to Connie Ketchum. The council's opinion was requested by the Michigan State Liquor Control Commission, which makes the final decision on the request.

3,500 GM Workers May Draw Illegal Welfare Payments

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — About 3,500 General Motors Corp. employes in Michigan may be collecting millions of dollars a year in illegal welfare payments, according to state officials.

The possibility of welfare cheating was uncovered when GM, at the request of the state, ran a computer check to see how many of Michigan's 837,000 welfare recipients matched the names of GM's 240,000 workers in the state.

The inquiry sought similar data from Ford Motor Co., Chrysler Corp., Michigan Bell Telephone Co. and Detroit Edison Co.

Richard Oberron, a supervisor for the state Department of Social Services, said the actual number of GM workers on welfare rolls illegally would not be known until the computer check was completed, according to a story in today's editions of The Detroit News.

Oberron said that while Aid to Families with Dependent Children (ADC) grants average $308 a month, some GM workers do qualify for smaller checks from welfare.

State officials said that with data from the computer checks in hand, they would seek subpoenas to get payroll and employment data on the workers from GM.

The cross-checking of welfare rolls against private industry records is similar to a project which the Carter Administration launched to ferret out federal employes who are receiving welfare illegally.

Officials said a check of Detroit-based federal workers between Oct. 1, 1976, and Aug. 31, 1977, turned up 1,203 cases of outright fraud or partial overpayments totaling $2.6 million.

Oberron said that GM, after checking its computer records, gave the state 22,000 Social Security numbers that matched its files. The Department of Social Services scaled the list down to 5,000 names.

The Ford Motor inquiry will involve a cross-check of records of 112,000 workers in Michigan, while Chrysler will do likewise with 88,000 workers. Michigan Bell has 29,457 workers and Detroit Edison 10,000.

BUSINESSMEN'S GROUP MEETS TONIGHT

New Buffalo Seeking Industry

NEW BUFFALO — A meeting called by New Buffalo area businessmen interested in seeing light industry developed in the area will be held here tonight at 8 at the Little Bohemia restaurant.

"We're going to try and bring light industry into the area in an effort to help offset our overtaxed property owners," George Behrends, one of the group's main promoters said.

Behrends also said the group will be throwing its support behind a bill that has already been reintroduced in the House that would allow dog racing in the state. The Senate last week overturned a bill which would have allowed dog racing.

Behrends maintains the bill was defeated because all of its key supporters were out of Lansing at the time.

"We simply do not have enough industry down here to help carry the tax load," Behrends said. He described down here as New Buffalo, Galien, Three Oaks, Union Pier, New Troy area, or extreme southwest Berrien County.

"As far as the Berrien County Board of Commissioners helping, we might as well secede and become a part of Indiana," Behrends said.

Eight of the area's business leaders met in Lansing last Thursday, with area legislative representatives to discuss the situation, according to Behrends. He said 40 to 50 businessmen are ready to support the move toward more light industry.

"I haven't ruled out the possibility of a dog track yet, either," Behrends said. "When churches are opposed, they can open up their big mouths and talk, because they don't pay taxes."

The Berrien County Council of Churches opposed a proposed multi-million horse track facility near Three Oaks. The track's developers backed out earlier this year.

Tonight's meeting is open to the public, Behrends said.

Break-In Reported At Coloma

COLOMA — Coloma police are investigating a break-in at the Coloma Middle School that was discovered Sunday morning.

Police said a metal cabinet in the office area was pried open and a cash box opened, but it had not been determined if any money was taken. Police said glass windows in doors leading to the office, library-materials room, counseling office and two classrooms was broken out. Some teachers' desks were reported ransacked.

Entry to the school was made by breaking out glass in a door on the north side of the building, police said.

ELDERLY HOUSING

Bridgman Okays $1 Million Plan

BRIDGMAN — Preliminary plans for a proposed $1 million plus senior citizens apartment development were approved by the Bridgman City Commission last night.

JOINS LAW FIRM: Bruce A. Hiler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hiler, Route 2, Territorial Road, Watervliet, has joined law firm of Rudlick and Wolf, Chicago, after being admitted to State Bar of Illinois. Hiler is a magna cum laude graduate of Notre Dame and a 1977 graduate of University of Michigan Law School.

A Mishawaka, Ind., architectural firm, Denlon-Lofgren-Maenhout & Associates, has proposed building the development and is in the process of seeking federal Farmers Home Administration funds to help finance construction. Milford Mellon, city superintendent, said the project has been estimated to cost in excess of $1 million.

After a September meeting of the commission, Mellon said the firm has an option on a 30-acre site, owned by Henry Witt, Bridgman, off Baldwin Road. Plans call for 100 one-bedroom apartments to be built in two stages.

The firm said that should the funding be arranged, it hopes to begin construction next spring.

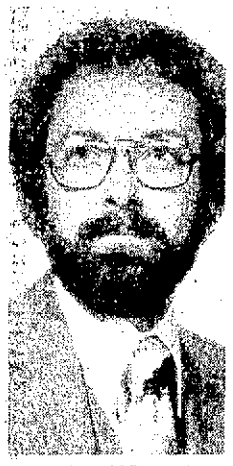
In other areas, the commission approved payment of a total of $14,450 to Ronald Marchione, city attorney. Included in the payment was $5,064, Marchione's fee for contracted services for six months, and $9,386 for litigation this year not covered under the contract.

The commission decided to take no action on a proposed ordinance to set down the city superintendent's responsibilities and authority until after new commission members are elected today.

A special, organizational meeting was set for Monday, Nov. 14, at 7:30 p.m. in city hall.

The resignation of Dale Frechling, a member of the city planning commission, was accepted. No replacement was named.

The commission approved requests from the Bridgman band to conduct a fund-raising drive in the city from Nov. 11-21; the Chikaming Adventist Church, to conduct its annual crusade, Nov. 12 and 13; and Hope for the Dunes, to conduct a membership drive, at a date to be announced later.



ADMINISTRATOR: A. Craig Haner began duties Monday as administrator of Lake View Community Hospital, Paw Paw. He comes to $30,000 a year post from Grand Rapids, where he headed VIP Management Co., a health care firm. Haner replaces Michael Payne, who resigned.

Covert Twp. Announces $247,000 Grant Okayed

COVERT — The Covert Township Board announced Monday night that its application for a $247,000 federal community development grant has been approved by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

The money will be used for rehabilitation of substandard housing, demolition of approximately 25 buildings, relocation of some buildings, sidewalk construction, and acquisition of land for parks and parking area, plus cost of administering the grant.

In conjunction with the announcement, the board approved naming three township citizens to join with the township planning commission in developing guidelines to be used to implement the grant.

Named were Charles McGill, Mrs. Sweet, Mae Lucas and Rev. Josephine Morgan. Planning commission members include Jerome Shumate, Donald Goldring, Rev. A.E. Grice, Mrs. Suella VanDyke, Mrs. Carolyn Sturkum, and Duane Rendell.

The group will hold a series of five meetings with the first one for the general public at the township hall on Wednesday, Nov. 16, at 7 p.m. Although guidelines will be developed by the group with input from local citizens, implementing guidelines will be done according to federal rules.

The funds will be used in an area bounded by 28th Street on the north, 72nd Street on the east, 38th Street on the south and 76th Street on the west, plus a small portion along 77½ Street, as outlined in the township's application.

In other areas, Bernard Lucas, Covert School Board member, said a sanitary sewage disposal plan should be brought before voters again if federal funding can be obtained. He also said a plan should be devised to educate voters on the need for a system.

Last February, Covert township residents turned down a property tax millage proposal which if approved would have provided 20 percent of a $3.7 million sewer project, with the remainder coming from federal and state funds.

Supervisor Jerry Sarno said he would help any group wanting to circulate petitions asking that another sewer proposal be put on the ballot.

It was reported that use of the sanitary landfill container system was "very heavy" during its first week of operation. The board said if the heavy usage continued a fee may have to be charged to help defray expenses. The township is paying $65 each time the container is dumped and last week it was dumped three times, two more than expected.

Two house trailer parking permits were approved for Josephine Whdarczyk off 30th Avenue west of M-140 and Edward Rousselle at Route 3, Box 142, Coloma.

Youth Work Law Revision Clears Senate

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Legislation revising state laws governing the employment of young people has cleared the state Senate.

The bill, passed Monday 28-0, provides no drastic changes in the state's policy on working youths, but updates the statutes and provides increased protection for young persons.

The bill also eliminates discriminatory standards between males and females under the current law.

Under an amendment adopted last week, however, the bill does not cover young farm workers. Originally, it would have required that farm work not violate state or federal safety standards for youths.

South Haven Board Awards Contracts

SOUTH HAVEN — Contracts for the renovation of the Central school auditorium were awarded by the South Haven Board of Education during a special meeting Monday night.

The board accepted the low bids in each instance for work totaling $201,640.

Contracts were awarded as follows: general construction, Olson Brothers Co., South Haven, $137,675; plumbing, heating and ventilation, Brouker Den Bleyker Co., Holland, $53,764; and Parkway Electric Co., Holland $100,201.

The wk will include construction of a storage room, enlarging the stage, upgrading the electrical service, installing air conditioning and a major renovation of the interior. The auditorium will seat 524 people when the work is done.

The entire project is expected to cost approximately $350,000 as the construction bids did not include the seats or stage curtain. Also to be added to the cost is the architect's fee.

The school district received a $250,053 grant from the federal government under its public works grant program to help pay for the project. The balance of the cost is expected to be met by drawing on the district's reserves.

Work must begin by Nov. 30 and terms of the grant and completed within 200 construction days.

The board vote to accept the bids was 4-0. In favor were Donald Dempster, Jane L. Witte, J. Glenn Sperry and Hyman Price. Member David Griffin abstained because he is a partner in Olson Brothers while Marjorie Johnston and James Palmer were absent.

Dowagiac Clears Way For Dental-Medical Clinic

DOWAGIAC — The Dowagiac City Council Monday night cleared the way for the construction of a new dental and medical clinic here.

The council approved a request to rezone a 10-acre tract south of Willard Street on the city's east side from residential to a public facility zone. The request came from developer of the clinic, Dr. Charles Burling, a Dowagiac dentist.

Dr. Burling said after the meeting that construction on the new clinic would start immediately. He said he hopes to move into his portion of the building by January. The rest would be finished sometime in the spring, he said.

He said the construction estimates range between $425,000 and $465,000. He said the building would have a 116-foot long main building with two 50-foot wings. He said there would be offices for himself and one other dentist and two doctors to start. He said two more doctor offices could be added later.

In other action, the council accepted the low bid from Diamond Crystal Salt Co., St. Clair, of $16.86 per ton for salt to be used on city streets during the winter.

City Manager Henry Graper Jr. told the council that 29 applications for police chief have been reduced to six. Graper said he hopes to reduce that number to three by the end of this month and make a recommendation early next month. He said it is expected that a new chief would begin duties Jan. 1.

The 68-year-old father's body washed ashore Oct. 26.

Feud's Over For Now

DETROIT (AP) — Steven West and the directors of the department store chain he heads have agreed to drop lawsuits against each other, signaling a truce between West and Federal's Inc. Two of the four directors voted a week ago to oust West, complaining that he had conflicts of interest in his holdings. The dispute surfaced when West locked himself in his office and refused to leave until served with court papers. A series of court hearings have led to a lifting of the court order banning him from Federal's headquarters, and the two sides have agreed to drop legal action for now. The controversial West agreed to resolve his conflicts of interest and to screen public announcements through the firm's president, Maxwell Goldstein, before issuing them. But the restrictions will continue only until the company's next stockholders meeting this winter, when West is given a good chance of electing his own directors.

Jardine Resigns; 'Low Class' Badger Fans Get Wish

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — What sickened John Jardine's players most about his sudden resignation Monday was that what safety Scott Erdmann called "very low class" fans had gotten their wish.

And Jardine as much as admitted that an ugly scene in the Camp Randall Stadium stands just after his University of Wisconsin football team had lost a fourth successive game last Saturday was the main factor in his decision to quit after nearly eight seasons as head coach.

A substantial number of fans sitting near the tunnel connecting the field and locker rooms taunted Jardine with remains of "Good-bye Jardine, Good-bye, Jardine, Good-bye, Jardine, we're glad to see you go." The players also were jeered and some were targets of thrown apples and toilet paper.

"The fans pay their eight bucks and they can do whatever they want. I mean that sincerely," a red-eyed and drawn Jardine, 41, told a hastily arranged news conference.

"But what happened to my players really affected them," he said. "Some wanted to go back out in their shorts and do battle with those people. I had to break up the (postgame) press conference to stop them. I just said then, 'That's it.' I don't ever again want to see that.

"My stomach has not been too good lately, but the main thing was what happened right after the game," he said. "They can boo the coaches all they want. But I don't think players should ever be booed."

Jardine said that, in the interests of a smooth transition, he will coach the Badgers' last two games, against Iowa here Saturday and at Minnesota Nov. 19. Athletic Director Elroy Hirsch, who said he tried to persuade Jardine to stay, said a search for a successor would begin immediately.

Jardine, hired to succeed John Coatta in early 1970, brought respectability and excitement to a program that had a 3-25-1 record in Coatta's three seasons. But while Wisconsin has been among the nation's leaders in attendance for several years, Jardine's only winning record here was 7-4 in 1974.

His current team won its first five games against suspect opposition, then has been outscored 129-7 in successive defeats by Michigan, Michigan State, Ohio State and Purdue. His record at Wisconsin is 37-45-3.

Jardine, whose contract had two more seasons to run, said his decision came "as a result of several events during the past weeks, especially during and after Saturday's game."

"Many reasons entered my decision, but my main concern was for my family, my staff and the team," he said. "I'm not bitter. I deeply appreciate the faith and support accorded me during the past eight years by the administration and Wisconsin fans."

Defensive tackle Tom Houston said he was sure the incident involving the fans Saturday had been the main factor in Jardine's decision.

"It was the reaction of the fans, and what that did to the players," Houston said. "He didn't want that for his family. We love him very much. He's a super guy who means a whole lot to us."

Erdmann said he deplored Saturday's incident.

"It was very low class," Erdmann said. "I'd rather have 10,000 real fans behind us than 80,000 like that. It gave me a gut rot feeling. It was like hearing someone in your neighborhood saying something bad about your father, and Coach Jardine is like a father to me. I think he's a great coach, and he's certainly a great man.

"I don't feel he quit," he said. "To me, a head coach sets the personality of his team, and his teams have never quit. They scratch and bite. I think he just decided to change professions for the sake of his family and because of the public pressure, but I don't think of him as quitting."

Jardine did not disclose future plans, but said he will never coach again. He has been hospitalized twice this year for treatment of nervous tension, according to Hirsch.

"I'm sorry to lose him to the win-or-else syndrome," Hirsch said. "I was shocked. He is a hell of a guy with tremendous integrity. I accepted his decision with great reluctance."

Hirsch said that early in the season, Jardine had "implied he might give it up regardless."

"But after we went 5-0, I thought he might change," Hirsch said, adding he agreed he thought Saturday's incident was a primary factor.

"When those people started singing while he was in the locker room, it was really rough," Hirsch said. "But there was no real pressure from alumni to get rid of him. This is a low point in my administration. John gave it all he had and didn't think it was good enough."

Jardine was the first to admit disappointment in his record.

"When I first came here, I said it would take two or three years to get the job done," he said. "We haven't accomplished anywhere near what I hoped we would accomplish in eight years.

"But whoever takes over won't necessarily inherit a rock bottom deal," he said. "I'm not retiring from football because I think I can't win."

Jardine, a Chicago area native and former guard at Purdue, was offensive line coach at UCLA for five years before coming to Wisconsin.

Championship March On Schedule

BALTIMORE (AP) — It was another Monday night victory, not as impressive as a year ago, perhaps, but right on schedule as far as the Baltimore Colts were concerned.

The Colts slogged through the mud in Memorial Stadium to score a 10-3 decision over the Washington Redskins, with a 12-yard pass from Bert Jones to a diving Freddie Scott providing the winning points early in the final quarter.

While it pushed Baltimore's record to 7-1 and kept it alone atop the AFC East, the hard-earned triumph in the defense-dominated clash of neighborhood rivals was in sharp contrast to the last Monday night game here, one year ago against Houston.

The Colts hosted the Oilers, also in the season's eighth week, and thundered to a 38-14 victory. It proved to be their best effort of the year as they dropped two of their final five games before being easily eliminated in the first round of the playoffs.

But although the margin of victory over the Redskins was much smaller, the Colts felt their latest nationally televised win would show up more decisively in the long run.

"We're hitting our peak at the right time this season," said defensive end Fred Cook. "Last year, I think, we reached our peak too soon. The Houston game was our best, seven weeks before we really needed it. This time we're more confident."

Cook, a four-year veteran, and the rest of the Colts' "Sack Pack" front four put intense pressure on Redskins quarterback Joe Theismann, sacking him five times and helping to create a pair of interceptions by linebacker Stan White.

The Baltimore offense, meanwhile, was controlling the ball, with Jones & Company running off 80 plays to Washington's 54 and using up 13½ more minutes of playing time.

"I said early in the week that we couldn't leave our defense out there all game and still beat the Colts. Well, that's exactly what we did, and I didn't help them any," said Theismann, who completed 11 of 27 throws for 168 yards.

Theismann and the rest of the Redskins, now 4-4 and in third place in the NFC East, thought they had gained a shot at a tie on the final play.

The quarterback's toss from the Baltimore 13 was caught in the end zone by Calvin Hill. But the officials, who had stopped the clock with two second remaining as defensive players lined up, ruled that time had run out before the ball was snapped.

"Everybody tells their players to walk back slowly and take their time," Washington Coach George Allen said. "But he (the official) had stopped the clock. If that's the case, then either the clock is wrong or we had a touchdown."

A poor play by the special teams, a perennially strong point of Allen-coached squads, led to the Colts' winning points in the game played in a steady rain on a field soaked by two days of downpour.

Late in the third period, with the score knotted on field goals by Toni Linhart and Mark Moseley, Washington punter Mike Bragg shanked a 22-yard kick out of bounds at the Baltimore 30.

From there, the Colts moved steadily downfield, with Jones suddenly finding the range on passes that earlier that had been sailing over the heads of open men or splashing in the mud in front of diving receivers.

"It was hard to really zip the ball in this kind of weather," said Jones, who completed 13 of 27 passes for 180 yards.

On a third-and-seven situation, Jones hit Scott with a bullet over the middle, gaining the first down by inches at the Washington 14. Then after a two-yard run, Jones and Scott connected again, this time for the winning TD on a pass that the Amherst graduate had to stretch full-length to grab in the end zone.

"I knew I would have to dive, but I didn't think I'd have to go that far out," Scott said. "The ball took off a little."

Jones admitted that the scoring toss "wasn't a perfect throw," but said he never wanted to haul it back in once it left his hand.

"I thought it was catchable," he said. "And besides, it was a touchdown. I never want them back."

Foreman's Ring Return Rumored

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

"George been acting funny lately—restless like," said the mother of the former world heavyweight champion. "I 'spect he may be wantin' to get back in the ring.

"After all, fightin' was his world. It was all he ever did. It was all he lived for. If it would make him happy, I wouldn't raise any objections."

Is George Foreman, who demolished Joe Frazier twice and stopped Ken Norton in two rounds, planning a comeback?

Such a rumor circulated today in the wake of Ken Norton's split decision victory over Jimmy Young and the failure of champion Muhammad Ali to definitely commit himself to a bout with the winner.

Naturally, the first thing to do was put in a call to George. But where was George?

The George Foreman Development Corp., 3120 Southwest Thruway, Houston, Texas, said the boss wasn't around. He had gone to Marshall. That's the little Texas town where George was born.

The phone rang at the 2½-acre Foreman farm. George wasn't there, either. But his mother was. She would pass the message on to George. He was out somewhere evangelizing.

In April, after a shocking defeat at the hands of Jimmy Young, Foreman told of a vision from Heaven which directed him to go out and give the message of the Bible to the masses.

"I go where God leads me," he said.

Less than a month later he announced he was retiring from the ring because of his religious beliefs and his love for his mother.

George's mom, who was separated from Foreman's father when their son was 5, said that was so when George first began his ring career but not necessarily the case now.

Foreman's re-emergence would give a boost to a sport that is threatened by the re-run doldrums.

What's next? A fourth Ali-Norton bout? Perish the thought. Fifteen rounds of packaged boredom, proving nothing. A comeback by Smokin' Joe Frazier against Earnie Shavers? The Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Old Pugilists wouldn't stand for it. A succession of Burns of the Month for the great Ali? Forget it.

Heavyweight boxing is in trouble. Ali's act is as jaded as Milton Berle's Comedy Hour.

Only Foreman, age 29, is capable of generating new excitement. A 6-foot-4, 225-pound monster, he has proven he can crush any man he can catch, as Frazier and Norton will attest. He was neutralized by Ali's rope-a-dope in Zaire and Young's fancy counter-punching in Puerto Rico, defeats he could charge off to naivete.

"He got going too fast, he never got a chance to breathe," said his sympathetic mother. "I see a big difference in him now. He has control of his life. But I wonder about him. I keep thinking he wants to fight again."

TENNIS

STOCKHOLM — Unranked Keith Richardson upset third-seeded Fidhe Dibbs and Francisco Gonzales surprised 11th-seeded Bob Lutz in the $150,000 Stockholm Open Tennis Tournament.

Richardson outlasted Dibbs 7-6, 3-6, 7-5 while Gonzales, a little-known Puerto Rican, struggled through two tiebreakers enroute to a 6-4, 6-7, 7-6 triumph over Lutz.

LOS ANGELES — Bjorn Borg of the Cleveland Nets, who won the World Team Tennis singles title, was named the WTT's most valuable first-year player.

FOOTBALL

PITTSBURGH — Safety Glen Edwards, who left the Pittsburgh Steelers last week because he wanted more money, will return to practice today, a team spokesman said.

Edwards, a seven-year National Football League veteran who played in the past two Pro Bowl games, walked out last Thursday and missed the Steelers 21-7 loss to Denver Sunday.

A team spokesman said that Edwards had met with Steelers President Dan Rooney and agreed to return. He apparently will do so under his current contract, which has one year and an option year remaining.

BASKETBALL

NEW YORK — Madison Square Garden, owners of the National Basketball Association's New York Knicks, filed a $3.2 million lawsuit against the New Jersey Nets in U.S. District Court.

The suit was over indemnification payments which the Nets must pay as part of the pro basketball merger for the right to operate an NBA franchise within the Knicks' territory.

According to the papers, which were filed by the Garden against Long Island Sports, the Nets missed a $320,000 annual payment which was due Sept 15. Two extensions, one of 30 days and one of seven days, were granted by the Knicks. However, the payment still has not been received by the Knicks.

BOWLING

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — Paul Moser of Somerset, Mass., won his second Professional Bowlers Association title with a 380-pin victory over Johnny Petraglia in the $60,000 Syracuse Open.

Moser, a left-hander, earned $6,000 for the victory while Petraglia, also a lefthander, won $3,500. Moser's previous Victory was in the 1976 U.S. Open.

Moser, grabbing a permanent lead after the second round, began the final round with a 315-pin lead and never was challenged.

BOXING

NEW YORK — Former heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson, Lou Jenkins, one-time lightweight champion, and the late Chalky Wright, who was king of the featherweights, were named to the Boxing Hall of Fame.

They were named on the necessary 75 per cent of 804 votes cast by sports writers and sportscasters in voting conducted by The Ring magazine.

Also named to the Hall were Tuni Kmir, who fought in the 1900s and was selected by the Board of Directors of the Hall of Fame, which is run by The Ring, and Jimmy Bratt, who fought in the early 1900s and was picked by the Oldtimer's Committee.

Basketball Still Penalized

Gopher Probation Lifted

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — University of Minnesota Athletic Director Paul Giel says he is impressed with the National Collegiate Athletic Association decision to lift an indefinite probation against all university men's sports except basketball.

"I'm sorry the basketball probation was extended," Giel said. "But considering how long all of this has been going on, the lifting of the probation on our entire program should be a morale booster for our athletic department."

The university basketball program remains on probation until Oct. 28, 1978, the university said Monday.

The lifting of the probation was expected after the university ended an impasse with the NCCA by declaring basketball players Mychal Thompson and Dave Winey ineligible.

University Vice President Stan Kegler said he expects a decision early next week on the type of suspension the NCAA will hand Winey and Thompson.

That decision is expected to be announced before the Gophers' first basketball game Nov. 16 against the Cuban national team.

The NCAA had contended that Thompson, the Big Ten scoring champion last season, had sold season tickets for more than their face value and that Winey had accepted free lodging at a lake home from a university booster.

The basketball probation dates from the day University President C. Peter Magrath informed the NCAA of the ineligibility action taken against the two 6-foot-10 basketball players.

The basketball probation actually amounts to an increased penalty and means the team will not be able to appear in post-season tournaments next spring or on NCAA-sponsored television games this season.

Both Thompson and Winey are seniors. Thompson was one of the top centers in the country last season when the Gophers compiled a 24-3 record. Winey has been used mainly as a reserve.

The university had contended that declaring the two players ineligible was far too harsh a penalty for the offenses.

Thompson had passed up a million dollar offer to turn professional earlier this year in favor of returning to Minnesota for his senior year, in hopes of leading the Gophers to a national championship.

"I'm upset with the decision because I'm to blame for everything that happened to the basketball program," Thompson said.

Lakers, Rams Prep Powers As Expected

Rangers, Bees Year's Big Surprises

By JACK WALKDEN
Staff Sports Writer

This could be labeled the season of surprise in southwestern Michigan football.

Area coaches picked just three of eight league champions in the Herald-Palladium's pre-season coaches' poll. And one of those, Traverse City in the LMAC, was only a co-favorite.

Two of the biggest surprises were Cassopolis and Bridgman. The Rangers were selected just fourth in the Blossomland race in the coaches' poll. But Cass won the Bud title, claimed its first perfect season (9-0) since 1960 and is ranked No. 1 in today's final Associated Press Class C poll.

"We felt we'd have a better ballclub than that," Titus said of the pre-season pick. "We wanted to prove to people that we weren't as bad as the area coaches thought we were.

"I'm very happy for the kids," he added. "I couldn't have asked for any more from them."

The Rangers were one of four area state playoff qualifiers, the first in southwestern Michigan history.

Bridgman, another playoff team, was even more astonishing. The Bees were picked dead last in the pre-season Red Arrow poll. But Bridgman finished 7-1, the best year in school history.

Bridgman's only loss was a 39-7 setback at the hands of unbeaten Class C power Lake Michigan Catholic. But even in defeat, Bees coach Jerry Planutis felt that loss was the turning point in his team's season.

"Deep down in the kids' minds I think the last place prediction affected them," Planutis said. "No one wants to be picked last.

"But the LMC game turned the kids around. Even though we lost 39-7, we did a lot of things well. We moved the ball on them. If it hadn't been for seven turnovers it might have been a different game. From then on we felt we could do it."

Lake Michigan Catholic finished with the first perfect season (9-0) in school history. The Lakers tied Decatur and Galien for top defensive honors, allowing just 71 points in nine games.

Though South Haven was unable to post its first unbeaten season under Gary Steudle, the Rams did go down as southwestern Michigan's best offensive team in modern history.

South Haven rolled up a record 46 points and 488 yards per game in posting an 8-1 record and gaining a Class B playoff berth. The Rams led the area in both rushing (351 yards per game) and passing (137).

Steudle still holds the area's best coaching record (48-12, .800) for coaches with at least two years of service.

Though South Haven won the Wolverine conference title, Steudle admits it was the playoff berth that his team was more interested in.

"We have been shooting for the playoffs more than the conference championship all year," he said. "This was our season-long goal. We not only wanted to be in the playoffs, but we're hoping to be state champions."

Shelby Gamble was the South Haven sparkplug, scoring an area record 172 points. Gamble was also southwestern Michigan's top rusher with 1,601 yards.

Close behind for the Rams were quarterback Perry Palanca and end Mike Jones. Palanca threw for 1,208 yards and 16 touchdowns, tops in the area. Jones caught 31 aerials for 571 yards and 11 TDs.

Another pleasant surprise was Galien. The Gaels sported one of the area's worst defenses (31.7 points and 358.3 yards per game) last year, while finishing with a 1-8 record.

This time around under first-year coach Tony Yonto, Galien possessed one of southwestern Michigan's top defenses (7.9 points and 179 yards), while posting a 5-4 record.

The unblemished regular season efforts of Cassopolis and Lake Michigan Catholic gave the area its first perfect seasons since St. Joe finished 9-0 in 1973.

Cassopolis First Area Poll Champ

The Rangers claimed the Class C title in today's final AP poll after completing a perfect 9-0 season.

Flint Southwestern captured the Class A title, while hard-running Crystal Falls Forest Park wrapped up the Class D crown. Forest Park will fight for its third straight state playoff crown this weekend.

The final AP football poll of the season awarded the top Class B spot to Grand Rapids West Catholic.

South Haven finished in a tie for second in Class B, while Lake Michigan Catholic was third in Class C and Bridgman was 14th in Class D.

The winners, all undefeated with identical 9-0 records, were selected from a poll of AP sportswriters and broadcasters across the state.

All the AP poll's champions qualified for the quarterfinals of the Michigan High School Athletic Association playoffs, which will be held Friday and Saturday. Semifinals will be held starting Nov. 10 and the finals will be Nov. 26 at the Pontiac Silverdome.

Southwestern was unbeaten last year and was ranked No. 1 in the AP poll, but the school failed to make the playoffs.

This year, the number of playoff teams has been expanded to 32, twice last season's number.

Eight teams in each class will compete for the top spots in Classes A through D. Flint Southwestern will open its playoff bid against East Lansing Saturday. Grand Rapids West Catholic will battle South Haven. Cassopolis will clash with St. Joseph Lake Michigan Catholic. Crystal Falls Forest Park will meet Mancelona.

The most consistent of the AP's four top teams over three years is Crystal Falls Forest Park, headed by 22-year coaching veteran Rich Mettlach.

The round-robin playoffs opening this weekend were started three years ago. Crystal Falls has captured the top spot in its class each time.

Lawsuit Planned Against Playoff System

DETROIT (AP) — The parents of football players at Detroit Southwestern High School plan to file a lawsuit against the Michigan High School Athletic Association because their school was left out of the state football playoffs.

The parents say their school was unfairly eliminated from the Class A competition.

The MHSAA uses a computerized point system to determine playoff competitors. Teams are awarded points depending on the class of their opposition, and victories posted by defeated opponents.

The system results in two teams from each of four geographic regions in classes A, B, C and D being selected for the playoffs. This year's quarterfinals begin Friday.

The Southwestern parents are crying "foul" because Detroit schools only had room for a 7-game schedule this season after a special millage election reversed an earlier vote that threatened to cut out sports altogether.

Most high schools played nine games.

Southwestern, Detroit's Public School League champs and the No. 5 team in the Associated Press Class A poll, posted a 7-0 record.

They wound up third in the MHSAA Region 4 playoff rankings for Class A schools. Clarkson was first with 110.22 points, Birmingham Brother Rice was second at 107.55 and Southwestern had 107.42.

"All I know is that Southwestern played seven games and Brother Rice played nine," said one of the disgruntled parents. "And Brother Rice played two Class B teams and two Class C while Southwestern played all Class A."

Vern Norris, MHSAA associate director, says he doesn't understand why the parents are so mad.

"It's all a matter of arithmetic...They're not out because somebody doesn't like them."

Sarters And Borden All-KVA

Bangor placed two players on the KVA all-league football team announced today.

Offensive end Dave Sarters and linebacker Earl Borden were both first team selections.

Sarters, a 5-11, 160-pound senior, caught 35 passes for 637 yards and seven touchdowns for Bangor. Borden, a 5-9, 135-pound senior, made 55 solo tackles and assisted on 92 others. Borden was in on 378 tackles in his two-year varsity career.

Last Year's Purdue Upset On U-M's Mind

Wolverines Seeking Revenge

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Michigan's football team went up against Purdue last year with what many say was the wrong mental attitude. It cost the Wolverines an undefeated season and a shot at a national championship.

According to U-M safety man Jim Pickens, he and his teammates won't make that mistake this year.

Michigan needs a victory Saturday to keep its Big Ten title hopes alive, and Pickens and Co. are determined not to wind up on the short end of a 16-14 upset as they did a year ago.

"When they ruin a perfect season for us," Pickens declared, "that's got to be on everybody's mind. Plus the fact that this year they've got such a good passing attack. That's an added challenge."

At his weekly news conference Monday, coach Bo Schembechler praised Purdue's passing game and the Boilermakers' freshman quarterback sensation, Mark Herrmann.

The Wolverine coach regards Herrmann as "a fine thrower" and characterized him as "more of a pure passer" than Michigan's Rick Leach. The words mean a lot coming from Schembechler, who regards Leach as among the best quarterbacks in the country.

Schembechler also said the memory of last year's loss may spark this year's team to a better performance.

"Maybe it's good that we're going back (to Lafayette, Ind.)," said Schembechler. "It will give us the added incentive to get ready for them and to really go after them."

A shakeup of the defensive backfield by Schembechler resulted in Pickens getting the safety assignment.

"I like it, although I haven't had as many opportunities to make interceptions," Pickens said, explaining that other teams don't usually like to go deep in passing against the Wolverines. "But I like the position, being the last line of defense."

Against Purdue, however, things may be different.

In freshman sensation Herrmann, the Boilermakers have one of the leading passers in the nation. "That's no special concern. We'll have to break on the ball and maybe change some individual tactics to shore up the pass defense.

If Pickens sounds like a coach, it may be because he was an All-Big Ten Academic selection a year ago with a grade average about 3.5. He is expected to repeat that achievement this year.

As for Purdue, Pickens says that last year "we went down there with the wrong mental attitude — just kinda lax and not really taking Purdue serious enough, I guess. I try to take every game seriously. Sure, we're Michigan, but so what?

"Teams who play us usually have a grudge or are jealous or whatever — however their coach gets them up for a game — so I try to be prepared for it every week."

Pistons Trade Porters To Nets For Skinner

DETROIT (AP) — On paper it looks like a good deal all the way around. Whether it holds up on a basketball court should be apparent by the time the NBA playoffs roll around in April.

In one of their biggest deals in recent years, the Detroit Pistons late Monday traded guard Kevin Porter and forward Howard Porter — no relation — to the New Jersey Nets for guard Al Skinner and the Nets' second round draft picks in 1978 and 1979.

"The Nets have expressed a sincere interest in improving themselves in the backcourt and the forward position, and we're interested in improving ourselves at any position we can," said Detroit General Manager Bob Kauffman.

Kevin Porter, acquired from Washington for Dave Bing in 1975, spent much of last season at odds with Pistons coach Herb Brown over playing time. He declared all the ill feeling past during training camp this season, and was leading the team in assists despite averaging only about 16 minutes on the court each game.

"Kevin's attitude has been tremendous this season. I wish both players the best," said Brown.

"We feel the acquisition of Kevin Porter will give us the ball-handling guard that our offense has lacked thus far," said Nets' assistant to the president Bill Melchionni.

The Nets have only one victory in eight starts this season, and what Kevin Porter provides in playmaking ability, they expect Howard Porter to contribute in scoring.

He was a starter much of last season, but used in a relief role during Detroit's first eight games this year. Known primarily as a shooter, Porter averaged 13.2 points a game last season — third best on the club.

The 6-foot-4 Skinner was described by Kauffman as "a proven performer...a super person and human being."

"He comes to play 82 games a year, and if you play 85 he'll come for 85," Kauffman added.

"I'm sorry to see Al go," Melchionni said. "He's played well for us over the last four seasons, but it should be a good move for him as he is going to a contending team."

Skinner averaged 12.6 points a game last season when the Nets posted the worst record in the NBA. He is averaging 15.1 this season.

The Nets also received an undisclosed amount of cash in the deal.

Glow Surrounds Spartans' Camp

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The weather may be damp and gray but there's such a glow around Michigan State's football program that even coach Darryl Rogers is musing over a first place finish in the Big Ten.

Following Saturday's come-from-behind win over Minnesota, all that stands between the Spartans and a 7-3-1 season is Northwestern and Iowa. Victories would guarantee third place in the Big Ten — and maybe even higher.

Rogers and Athletic Director Joseph Kearney acknowledge the once-dismal atmosphere surrounding the football program has brightened dramatically. With just one more year of probation left, they're recruiting prep players by talking about future bowl prospects.

The attitude of alumni and supporters also has improved since the athletic shakeup which accompanied the three-year penalty from the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

"We're sensing a positive attitude," Kearney said Monday. "There was an awful lot of frustration. Now we're finding considerable enthusiasm and interest."

Spartan backers are still dreaming about a second-place Big Ten finish, which is possible with two more wins and an Ohio State victory over Michigan. But Rogers goes them one better.

"If Indiana beats Ohio State, and Michigan and Ohio State tie, we could be tri-champions," he deadpanned.

But Rogers spent a good part of his weekly news conference playing down the Spartans' possible rise to power.

"We feel better — I believe the football team has an idea of direction, where we want to go. It always takes winning to do that," he said.

"But all you do is lose against Northwestern and you lost all that. We're not satisfied with where we are — we've got to get better. We're not 7-3-1 yet — we're 5-3-1, and I'm only interested in Northwestern."

And of course Rogers won't write off the Northwestern game, despite the fact the Wildcats have lost nine straight. He noted they beat MSU last year — their only victory.

"They're much better than anyone gives them credit for," he said. "They've been in every game in the first half. There's no way we can rest. We have to play with emotion because we aren't good enough not to."

Soccer Team Dropped

SPRING ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Because of a religious ban on Sunday play, the undefeated soccer team at a Methodist college is being dropped from the national playoffs.

Spring Arbor College, a Methodist-affiliated school, won all 19 of its games this season and was ranked No. 4 by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

The team was headed for the national tourney in Huntsville, Ala. — until the championship game was switched from Saturday, Nov. 26, to Sunday, Nov. 27.

On Monday, the league announced that Spring Arbor will not be invited to the tournament because officials at the college won't let their players compete if the team gets as far as the championship game.

League officials said the championship game was rescheduled because Saturday, Nov. 26 is the day Alabama meets Auburn in a college football clash.

Fearing the soccer tourney would be staged before empty stands, the game was rescheduled for Sunday.

Ringer Investigation Beefed Up

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — Two detectives from the Nassau County district attorney's office were expected in South America today to join an investigation into the Belmont ringer scandal.

James Druker, chief of the rackets bureau, and an unidentified Spanish-speaking detective will aid DA vice squad Det. J. William Mokson in a probe that was set off when a horse named Lebon won a race at Belmont Park Sept. 23 at 57-1 odds.

Mokson arrived here last week as part of a five-man state and county investigative team that has collected blood samples from horses in Uruguay and Argentina and has taken depositions from numerous witnesses. The team was trying to prove that the lightly-regarded Lebon actually was a horse named Cinzano, a Uruguayan stakes winner.

Meanwhile, four of the original five men on the task force were to return to New York today.

"My mission is completed," said Joseph Mayer, a former FBI agent and now director of investigations for the New York State Racing and Wagering Board.

The Racing and Wagering Board suspended veterinarian Dr. Mark Gerard in October. Gerard had imported both Cinzano and Lebon from Uruguay into the United States in June, and the board has accused Gerard of secretly substituting Cinzano for Lebon.

Cinzano was reported destroyed June 12 at Gerard's Muttontown, N.Y., farm after sustaining a skull fracture.

In New York, a show-cause hearing was postponed in which the state was to show why Dr. Gerard should be prohibited from returning to work at Belmont Park, pending a full hearing before the Racing and Wagering Board. The hearing, originally scheduled for the appellate division of the State Supreme Court on Monday, was deferred to Wednesday.

Along with Mayer, those returning to the United States from Uruguay were Dr. Manuel Gilman, chief veterinarian for the New York Racing Association; Dr. Norman Lewis, another veterinarian, and Alfred Garcia, registrar of the New York Jockey Club.

On Monday, Gilman and Lewis took blood samples in Argentina from the dam and sire of Enchumao and from horses who shared the same dam and sire of As de Pique II.

As de Pique II is under guard at a New Jersey farm, suspected by racing authorities of being Enchumao. Enchumao, an Argentine stakes winner, reportedly was destroyed last February in Florida after an on-track accident.

While Nassau County beefed up its probe, a source close to the investigation hinted at a possible snag — unwillingness of Uruguayan witnesses to travel to the United States.

"There are a lot of witnesses down in Uruguay," said the source, "people that would be good witnesses. But will they come up? I think it will be a while before that's ironed out."

One report said that while some witnesses had refused to make the trip for personal reasons, Uruguayan sources felt they feared for their lives, believing the scandal was somehow linked to the underworld.

Fennville '5' Rips Saugatuck

FENNVILLE — Lorraine McQuade netted 12 points and Nancy Crane added 10 rebounds and eight tallies as Fennville downed Saugatuck 53-33 here Monday night in Allegan-Ottawa Conference girls basketball.

The Blackhawks, now 5-3 in the league and 9-4 overall, led 26-15 at halftime.

Fennville won the junior varsity preliminary 39-0.

Nelford Seeking Tour Card

Jim Nelford, the 1977 Western Amateur champion, leads a parade of recent Western stars who are competing this week in the chase for places on the PGA tour next week.

Nelford, from Burnaby, B.C., in Canada is among the 144 survivors of sectional and regional trials to reach the fall qualifying school competition at Pinehurst (N.C) Country Club.

The 72-hole finals begin Wednesday and conclude on Saturday.

Commissioner Deane Beman of the PGA has announced that the low 30 finishers and ties will receive Approved Tournament Player membership cards on Nov. 12. Classroom sessions for those who receive playing privileges Will begin Nov. 13.

The biggest name casualty in the early rounds of competition was John Fought, the 1977 U.S. Amateur champion.

Aside from Fought, all the nationally-known players in the original field of 600 qualified for the final trials, including 1976 U.S. Amateur champion Bill Sander and two-time NCAA champion Scott Simpson, both of whom competed in the Western Amateur this year.

Others in the final field who have competed with some distinction in recent Western Amateur tournaments at Point O'Woods include Randy Simmons, Gary Jacobson, Lee Mikles, Mick Soli, Dan Pohl, Tom Jones, Jimmy Ellis, Mark Timyan, Jaime Gonzalez, Buddy Gardner, Tom Popa and Paul Purtzer.

Southwestern Michigan will be represented in the final trials by former Bridgman star Bob Ackerman.

Nelford is one of four members of the 1977 Western Amateur's "Sweet 16" qualifiers who have turned pro so far. A new Western champion will be determined when the 78th Western Amateur is held at Point O'Woods next Aug. 2-6.

DNR Expecting 'Excellent' Area Whitetail Hunting

The 1977 firearm deer season could lure 700,000 hunters afield, or a few more than last fall. Those hunters could top the 1975 record harvest of 96,000 bucks.

That's the appraisal of the traditional Nov. 15 to 30 firearm deer season from Department of Natural Resources deer specialist, David A. Arnold.

But for a new buck harvest, Arnold stresses the need for near ideal hunting conditions.

"One thing we certainly wouldn't need," he says, "is a warm, foggy, rainy opener."

Last year, 685,000 licensed deer hunters took about 105,000 whitetails, including 88,000 bucks. The record number of hunters, 743,000 in 1975, contributed to the record number of deer taken that year.

The outlook is also good in southwestern Michigan, according to district DNR habitat biologist Tom Nederveld.

"There's no reason to believe we will not have an excellent deer season.....comparable to 1975 when we had a record kill," declares Nederveld.

Nederveld believes the hill-country in the northeast corner of Cass County and the northwest corner of St. Joseph County will again produce some of the best hunting. Barry County and parts of Van Buren County should also produce good results.

"We've been getting more damage complaints, particularly out of Van Buren County," adds Nederveld.

Allegan County will again attract a lot of hunters because of its abundance of public land in the state game area.

Nederveld believes the area deer population has stabilized to what "people and traffic can tolerate."

Highway deer kills in southwestern Michigan were down through September by a small margin, but Nederveld says that's not significant because the major portion of highway kills come during the last four months of the year.

The whitetail kill last fall in the DNR's southwestern Michigan district stood at about 4,000, including an estimated 3,000 bucks.

Nederveld reminds hunters that the new trespass law requires written permission when on private property. Sportsmen planning to hunt on public access lands are also advised to make arrangements with property owners prior to opening day.

Arnold says there are lots of northern Lower Peninsula deer. Early season archers are confirming that estimate.

"In the Upper Peninsula, the south central area has the heaviest deer population. In the Lower Peninsula, most deer will be found in a diagonal band stretching from Lake and Newaygo counties northeast to Oscoda and Alpena counties," Arnold says.

One major rule change this autumn allows the successful archer, armed with a firearm license for the gun season, to take a second deer. It must be a buck unless the sportsman has a Hunter's Choice permit.

The other key new rule this year concerns hunter safety. Firearm hunters must wear the more visible hunter orange colored vest, or jacket, or cap.

Any person having a Hunter's Choice permit for southern Lower Michigan should remember that the permit is valid only from Nov. 15 to 21.

All hunters getting a deer this fall can secure a Successful Deer Hunter patch by stopping at a DNR roadside check station. Those stations will operate through the first weekend of the season and will be found at roadside rest areas south of Reed City, Shepherd, White Cloud and south of the I-75 Clio and Montrose exit. Many DNR field offices will provide the same service.

Chemical manipulations of fish populations in Michigan may come to an end in the near future.

Because of growing concerns about possible environmental damage, the Department of Natural Resources will be looking for other fishery managing methods.

Fisheries chief John Scott says rough fish could be controlled by harvesting, with the possible use of the resource as a food. A variety of fishing regulations could also be employed to meet management needs in different waters.

"We're going to have longer term changes by less drastic means," declares Scott.

In a related matter, Scott sees the decline of toxic materials in Great Lakes waters as eliminating the waste of more than a million pounds of fish each year.

"In a couple of years we may be able to sell fish (mainly salmon) again, instead of burying them," notes Scott.

The chemical issue is also involved in lamprey control. As a substitute control method, there are plans to use more barriers to keep the Great Lakes pests out of their spawning grounds in rivers and streams.

Fish dieoff problems at the Platte River Hatchery near Honor could be minimized through improvements scheduled by the DNR.

The hatchery, which the DNR admits is in "some respects an engineering nightmare," has had problems partly because water is recirculated through the raceways where fish are raised. Using the same water over and over brought about a build up in sediment, with disease problems resulting.

The DNR believes it can modify the system to provide flow through water in raceways at a cost of $50,000 to $75,000.

It looks like snagging will be a permanent part of the Michigan fishing scene.

"Fishing is many things to many people," declares DNR fisheries chief John Scott. "It is irrational to expect a fisherman to throw back a salmon that has been foul hooked. I don't see where it's going to be possible to prevent snagging."

There is a possibility that the DNR will tighten up on time periods and areas where snagging is legal.

Scott believes the key to prevent snagging from looking like a mob scene is having proper facilities available at snagging sites. He says Tippy Dam is a good example of the way things should be. It has parking, toilets, access sites and fish cleaning stations.

Steelhead Remain Main Attraction

Steelhead continue as the main attraction in the southwestern Michigan fishery.

Steelies are being caught on spawn in the area's major rivers and on the tadpolly lure by trollers out on Lake Michigan. Trollers are also catching "jack" salmon weighing 1 to 1½ pounds.

Lloyd Mollhagen of Mollhagen' Fisheries in St. Joseph said some boats were coming in with 12 to 14 fish over the weekend. Many of the small salmon were being taken in 70 to 90 feet of water.

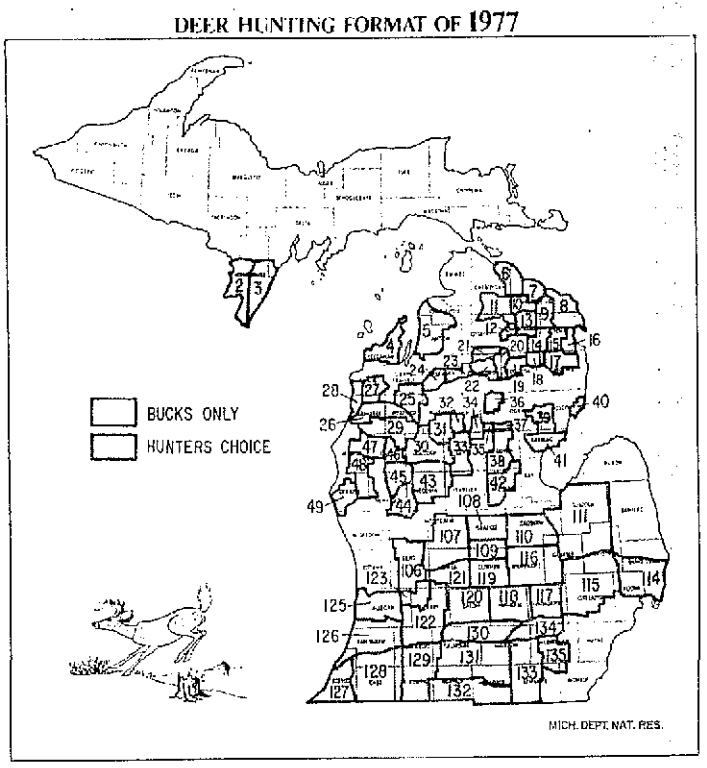
Salmon success is dropping off rapidly and interest in snagging below the Berrien Springs and Allegan dams is also dropping.

This fall's salmon runs did bring an interesting development... the big runs of Wisconsin-planted coho in the St. Joseph River.

Some of the Wisconsin fish had been imprinted with rose oil, which led district Department of Natural Resources fisheries biologist Dave Johnson to quip: "Some people don't think the St. Joseph River smells as sweet as a rose, but some of those salmon think so."

Johnson also reports that the fish ladder on the Berrien Springs dam has been shut down for this year. It will be reopened in the spring to move steelhead on up the St. Joseph River.

DEER HUNTING FORMAT OF 1977



Great Demand For Firewood

The wood hunting season has been open for a long time. Hopefully most deer hunters heading for their favorite northern hunting spots have laid in a good supply of wood a long time ago.

The best wood is dry wood obtained from tree tops left after logging, advises Harold W. Kollmeyer of the Department of Natural Resources forest management division.

Dead and downed trees provide a good source of fuel. If the hunter owns the land, his search for wood should provide an excellent opportunity for him to clean up his forest land. For most persons who do not own land, the best source of fuelwood is the local firewood supplier. A check of the classified ads in local newspapers or shopping guides will provide the phone number of several suppliers in the area.

The great demand for firewood permits and new logging methods has exhausted the supply of easily available fuelwood on much of the DNR and U.S. Forest Service land in the northern part of the state. The cutting of trees and wood on public and private land without written permission is a crime which will be prosecuted by local law officials. Remember that trees located along roads are the property of adjoining landowners, Kollmeyer cautions.

Southern Michigan residents should be aware that there is very little public land in their part of the state. The small amount of firewood available is sold on a first-come-first-served basis and the supply is normally gone before the start of the wood burning season.

Informed sportsmen know that it is illegal to dig plants or cut Christmas trees on public land. Written permission is needed to cut Christmas trees on private land. Hunters should plan to purchase their Christmas tree at home or from one of the tree growers retailing trees in northern Michigan. Be sure you have your bill of sale, as you may be stopped and asked to show it, Kollmeyer says.

Waterfowl, Small Game Hunts Poor

The small game and waterfowl seasons remain as "downers" in southwestern Michigan.

At the Allegan Game State Area through Sunday, the goose harvest was down 17 percent, the duck kill was 47 percent below a year ago and the pheasant tally showed a 42 percent decline.

The same situation exists throughout much of southwestern Michigan, according to Department of Natural Resources district habitat biologist Tom Nederveld.

No figures are available on quail, but Nederveld says "they are very difficult to find... last winter really took a toll on quail."

The decline in the goose harvest at Allegan all comes from the highbanks unit, because the Fennville farm harvest of 778 is exactly the same as a year ago at this time. A total of 424 have been taken so far this season at the highbanks.

The current goose population at Allegan of 14,000 is exactly the same as last year, but the duck tally of 4,500 is way down from the 1976 count at this time of 15,000.

Dune Country Guide Offered

By N.B. SAWYER

A guide for hikers and naturalists on the dune country of northern Indiana is now available from Swallow Press of Chicago.

The $4.95 paperback, written by Glenda Daniel, is designed for amateurs and makes a special effort to avoid technical terminology.

Separate chapters trace plant succession from beach to climax forest and identify the common plants and animals in each habitat. Also provided are maps and guides to more than 30 miles of hiking trails. Eighty one of the plants are illustrated with line drawings.

The dune country stretches along 14 miles of Lake Michigan shoreline. Officially known as Indiana Dunes State Park and the National Lakeshore, these 12,000 wild acres make up one of America's newest national parks.

It's Good Time For Pier, Surf Fishing

By N.B. SAWYER

Pier and surf fishing is great sport this time of year.

The catch is likely to be as varied as the November weather.

First thing to do is dress warmly. It's going to be cold out there. If you are fishing Lake Michigan and the wind has charged all the way from Wisconsin at you, it's like being sacked by the Dallas defensive line.

Take a variety of bait. Unless they have some spawn, most people buy ready-tied spawn sacks. Usually only one color of silk is available. If there's a chance to get more than one, do so.

Also, some single fish eggs or spawn in skeins are useful.

Use hooks of No. 8 or larger. Take a good-sized slip sinker and put it on your line. Then tie on a barrel swivel to keep the sinker from slipping down to the hook.

Tie on about three or four feet of leader, about 4-pound mono. It sounds awfully light, but usually there are few snags to worry about in the Great Lakes.

Tie on a No. 8 or larger hook. Impale a hunk of spawn or a spawn sack and throw the whole works out as far as possible. Reel the line tight against the sinker and wait. If you can prop up your rod, so much the better. This gives you a chance to move around and keep warm.

If other anglers are catching fish on pink sacks, go to pink if you can. If they are catching fish on cut spawn or single eggs, go that route.

Your catches are likely to run through salmon and steelhead to browns, maybe even lake trout, and sometimes carp or menominee.

If you are getting a bunch of bites but find nothing there when you strike, you may have menominee tapping at your bait. These herring-like fish are considered a delicacy by some. They sometimes swarm around breakwaters in large numbers.

The proper drill for them is to rig a single hook, about No. 10 or 12, and put just one or two eggs on it. Hold the rod, rather than prop it, and strike quickly, but not hard, at the first tap.

Usually a long-handled net is a big help when pier fishing. Often you may have to reach down many feet to scoop up a fish.

Sometimes keeping the bait off the bottom will help. A stale miniature marshmallow or a piece of foamed polystyrene plastic on the hook shank will do this. Or you can use light treble hooks and put the floater on one point.

Good fishing for salmon often continues until late in December and the steelhead and brown trout fishing goes on all winter.

WASTE DISPOSAL EXPANSION

Fennville To Seek Project Bids

FENNVILLE — The Fennville City Commission voted Monday night to advertise for bids for expansion of the city's waste water disposal system.

Included in the project, estimated to cost $357,000, is the addition of a five-acre lagoon adjoining three existing ponds and the refurbishing of sidewalls of the existing ponds.

The city's share of the project cost is estimated at $111,200 with the remaining $245,800 coming from state and federal grants already approved.

Included as part of the city's cost is $18,000 for a six-inch water main extending 2,500 feet past the city limits on 57th Street which is required by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources in the event ground water contaminates existing wells. Residents could tap into the line if contamination occurs.

According to city officials, the federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) does not feel the water main is essential and has informed the city that EPA money cannot be used for that purpose. Mayor James Clarey said that the city has written to state and federal representatives to try to get either the DNR or the EPA to alter their stands on the issue without success.

Mayor Clarey said the water main will not be filled with water but will act as a backup in case wells of residents within 500 feet of the lagoon project become contaminated.

Project Engineer Edward Bassett of Williams & Works Co. Grand Rapids, said that work on the project is scheduled to begin about April 1, and should be completed by September, 1978.

The city also voted to spend about $5,000 to chemically clean and inspect several city wells and refurbish some pumping equipment. Commissioner Ned Bale said that a representative of Layne-Northern, Grand Rapids, the city's water consultant anticipated increase in volume from the project would be about 200,000 gallons per day.

Work will be done prior to the resumption of the heavy water demand by Michigan Fruit Canners.

In other areas, the commission adopted a resolution to pay one-third of the cost for new sidewalk construction, retroactive to June. Commissioners also voted to have South Alley repaved by Zeeland Blacktop Co., at a cost of $1,000. Mayor Clarey said that no bids were required since the contract does not exceed the $1,000 limit.

The commission granted a building permit to Acro Chemical Co., to construct a $4,000 concrete storage building next to their production facility.

Commissioner Karen Barnes said the school bus garage reported that about $750 in damage was done to bus tires and seats on Halloween. She said that Tom Schultz, police chief, was investigating the incident.

Roger Webb, Allegan County Sheriff's deputy, requested the city make a room available in the rear of city hall for the new sheriff's patrol office which is now housed jointly with the clerk's office. Sheriff patrols were instituted Nov. 1, to beef up police coverage in the eight townships surrounding Fennville.

Commissioner Duane Hafer resigned his post, effective Nov. 17. He said he was moving out of town at the end of the month. Hafer is not seeking re-election today.

Back Sewage Proposal, Bainbridge Board Urged

The Bainbridge Township Board Monday night was urged to support a proposal to install a possible sewage treatment collection system around Pipestone Lake in the township.

Wayne Shipman and Gary Witkowski, of the Berrien County Health Department, appeared before the township board to outline reasons why the board should support the proposed treatment facilities to be discussed during a public hearing Nov. 22 at the Silver Creek Township Hall.

Both men said the poor soil conditions around the lake, coupled with broken drain tiles, and past experiences of raw sewage entering the lake were reasons.

The Nov. 22 hearing is being held to explain the proposals for sewage treatment around Pipestone Lake in Berrien County and six other lakes in Cass and Van Buren counties.

The wastewater sewage facilities study was recently completed by Gove Associates, inc., a Kalamazoo engineering firm.

The township board voted to participate in the study in April.

In the report, in order to determine cost figures, Pipestone Lake was included among five other lakes and designated as the Sister Lakes area.

To build collection systems in the Sister Lakes area, for conveyance and treatment at Dowagiac, the initial construction costs were pegged at $12,199,000 and $286,000 for yearly treatment costs.

Supervisor Leonard Smith Jr., said he has been unable to read the full text of the report but urged all Pipestone Lake area residents to attend the hearing and learn the details of the proposal.

In other areas, the board voted to waive the one per cent collection fee for 1977 taxes and charge the usual four-per cent penalty fee for paying taxes after Feb. 15, 1978.

The board referred a rezoning request from Peter J. Klassen to rezone his property along Territorial Road from agricultural to single family to the planning commission. The commission will meet on the request, on Monday, Dec. 12, at 7:30 p.m..

The board adopted both the Michigan Electrical Code and Michigan Plumbing Code, with both codes to become effective later this week.

The board hired Bruce Morgan, Route 2, M-140, Watervliet, as township plumbing inspector.

The board approved its federal revenue sharing fund budget with one change. The board allocated $400 to carry out splitting the township into two voting precincts and $3,600 for capital improvements. Previously, $4,000 had been earmarked for the improvements.

Other allocations of the $12,300 went toward $4,500 for the support of libraries; $1,600 for landfill costs; $1,000 for the North Berrien Senior Citizens center; and $1,200 to public safety.

Seven-Week-Old Sextuplet Dies In Netherlands

ROTTERDAM, Netherlands (AP) — Dennis Nijssen, youngest of the Dutch sextuplets born Sept. 18, died early today, hospital authorities announced.

The 7-week-old infant underwent an operation a month ago for a perforated intestine. His condition improved after the surgery, but he suffered a relapse last Thursday and failed to respond to intravenous feeding, hospital officials said.

The other five children, a boy and four girls, were reported in good condition at the Leiden University Hospital, where they were born. Dennis, the weakest of the babies from birth, had been transferred to the Sophia Children's Clinic in Rotterdam to be cared for by a team of specialists.

WHAT ARE CLUES TO SUICIDE?

The following are some things to watch that might be a forewarning.

A serious change in mood or behavior.

A pre-occupation with one's health, along with a loss of energy.

Insomnia and change in sleep patterns.

A sudden decline in economic status via serious business reversal.

A break in a close relationship.

An older person whose life style is suddenly changed or who is abruptly left alone.

Free Light Bulbs Ending In Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Is it better to buy a single lightbulb than curse the darkness? Detroit Edison Co. customers are about to find out because the end of the great bulb giveaway is at hand.

The utility has agreed to end the free light bulb program it started in 1886 as part of the settlement of a lawsuit filed by a druggist who claimed the freebies were dimming his profits from bulb sales.

Edison has also agreed to pay the druggists' attorney fees.

The utility said Monday the agreement will go into effect once it is approved in U.S. District Court. A hearing is scheduled for Feb. 22.

The druggist, Lawrence Cantor, sued Edison in 1973 under federal antitrust laws. The druggist alleged Edison's free light bulb campaign was unfair competition.

Under terms of the proposed settlement, Cantor and the 26,841 light bulb retailers in Edison's service area wouldn't get any money in damages.

Cantor's attorneys are asking for $1,575,000 million in legal fees, plus expenses, but Edison has offered to pay $695,000. U.S. District Judge John Feikens will rule on the attorneys' fees when he approves a final settlement.

Edison was the last major utility to continue the giveaway policy, widespread in the early days of electricity when utilities were trying to attract new customers. The light bulb program is under review at the state Public Service Commission, which was expected to decide next spring whether to order it scrapped.

The cost of the bulbs themselves, excluding handling charges, was reflected in the bills of Edison's 1.5 million customers. Edison said it got the bulbs for 12 or 13 cents each and distributed about 10 million a year.

Edison gave replacements for burned-out bulbs when customers presented their bills. The bulbs cost around 42 cents apiece in stores.

Stevensville Sailor Wins Commendation

The U.S. Navy has commended a Stevensville man who provided first aid in an accident in Santa Cruz, Calif., while he was on leave from his duties with the Navy at Moffett Field naval air station.

ATAN Jeffrey Robert Fell, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fell, 2778 W. Glenlord Road, was awarded a Meritorious Mast and Letter of Commendation, according to J.M. Quin, commanding officer at Moffett Field near San Francisco.

Quin said Fell was commended for providing first aid to a man injured in a motorcycle accident. Fell, an aviation electronics technician airman, had completed a Red Cross first aid course two days earlier, he said.

Fell, a 1975 graduate of Lakeshore High School, has been in the Navy 30 months.

Halfway House Inmate Going Back To Prison

A convict who prompted Berrien District Judge John Hammond to blast a state program which places prison inmates in halfway houses was sentenced back to prison Monday.

Berrien Circuit Judge Julian E. Hughes imposed a 3- to 5-year prison term on Kirk Anthony Ward, 20, of Benton Harbor, for breaking into a car at Price's Sunoco station in Benton Harbor to steal a tape player July 4.

On Sept. 29, 1976, Ward was sentenced to 2 to 5 years in prison from Berrien Circuit Court for entering a business without breaking. He was later released from prison and placed in the Michigan Department of Corrections halfway house program, which allows prison inmates believed to be non-violent to complete their minimum sentence while living under supervision in hotels such as the Milner in Benton Harbor and Four Flags in Niles.

Ward was in the program at the Milner at the time of the car burglary.

Hammond claimed the policy of the Corrections Department circumvented existing state law which specifies the minimum amount of time a convict must spend behind bars before parole. The judge claimed Ward had only been at the Milner about a week before he was accused of breaking into a car.

Hammond became involved in the case when Ward was arraigned before him on the charge. Moments after arraignment, Ward escaped the custody of a court officer, but was captured shortly after in St. Joseph.

Ward was sentenced to a year in jail by Hammond for the jail escape.

Seven Demand Hearings

Seven persons demanded examinations in Berrien Fifth District Court Saturday and Monday on felony charges.

Robert Lowell Woolbright, 29, Union Pier, was jailed in lieu of $50,000 bond after demanding examination on a charge of armed robbery of Jerome Scott outside of the Spot Tavern in Benton Heights on Oct. 23.

James Leroy Schell, 43, of 307 Hillview Road, Buchanan, demanded examination on a charge of larceny in a building on Nov. 5. He is accused of taking a sliding glass window from Buchanan Metal Form Products in Buchanan Township. He failed to post $500 bond and was jailed.

James Wray Matthews, 19, Box 308, M-140, Berrien Center, demanded examination on a charge of unlawful use of a motor vehicle belonging to Al Elsner on Aug. 22 in Benton Township. He failed to post $1,500 bond and was jailed.

James M. Mraz, 25, Chicago, Ill., was freed on $5,000 bond after demanding examination on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon — a 22-caliber pistol — without a license in New Buffalo on Nov. 5.

Cora Rhodes, 36, Chicago, Ill., demanded examination on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon — a 38-caliber revolver — in her car on I-94 in Lake Township Nov. 5. She was released on $1,000 bond.

Coy Francis Purnell, 29, of 529 Howard Ave., St. Joseph, was released on his own recognizance after demanding examination on a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicants, third offense, in St. Joseph Nov. 4. Purnell also pleaded innocent to a charge of driving with a suspended license stemming from the same arrest.

Joseph B. McCrary, 47, of 120 W. Main St., Fennville, demanded examination on a charge of issuing a nonsufficient funds check over $50 at Family Foods in Benton Township on Oct. 20. He failed to post $5,000 bond and was jailed.

Sentenced for misdemeanor violations were:

Bartolo Salazar, 22, Eau Claire, $127 fines and costs or 30 days for receiving and concealing stolen property — clothing — in Berrien Springs Nov. 6.

Bruce Anderson, 25, Michigan City, Ind., $50 for improper possession of a firearm — a rifle — in an auto in Three Oaks Nov. 5.

Sentenced for the following violations were:

Driving under the influence of intoxicants — Michael Edward James, 19, Union Pier, $155 or 30 days; Frank Jeka, 21, Calumet City, Ill., $155 or 30 days; Charles A. Smith, 20, Chicago, Ill., $155 or 30 days.

Officer's Trial Set Nov. 15

Berrien Circuit Judge Zoe S. Burkholz yesterday denied a motion from suspended Niles Patrolman Michael Lewandowski to dismiss three perjury charges against him because he has been denied a speedy trial.

Lewandowski was among Niles policemen indicted by the Berrien Citizens' Grand Jury in April, 1976, on a number of charges. Judge Burkholz ruled the delay in getting the case to trial was attributable to both the prosecution and the defense, and that Lewandowski's case had not been prejudiced by the delay.

Berrien Assistant Prosecutor Paul Maloney said the case is set for trial before Judge Burkholz on Nov. 15. The trial will be on three charges of perjury before the grand jury on March 2, 1976, involving testimony about alleged thefts from three Niles area businesses.

Maloney, in arguing against the motion to dismiss, noted that Lewandowski has already been tried on another charge from a grand jury indictment, which accounted for part of the delay in bringing the perjury case to trial.

Last March, Judge Chester J. Byrns dismissed a charge of larceny in a building against Lewandowski by ordering the jury to return a directed verdict of not guilty. The judge ruled that Lewandowski had been charged under a statute that was not supported by the facts presented by the prosecution.

China Warms To Capitalists

TOKYO (AP) — China's Communist leaders in a lengthy review of the state of the world make clear that they have settled on a policy of being friends, at least temporarily, with anyone opposed to their enemies.

The article last week in the official Peking People's Daily disclosed there had been some disagreement over such points as how capitalists could be allies of the Chinese Communists. The decision was to set aside some doctrinaire points in favor of practical results.

Police Were Watching

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A city report says East Lansing police gathered information for about a decade on politically active persons not suspected of criminal wrongdoing. The police department held files on between 100 and 200 individuals at the peak of its activity. It operated from the early 1960s until about 1973, the report said. The files contained information on political and philosophical views of people and their friends, said a three-member "committee on political surveillance" which disclosed its report this week. The committee was made up of two East Lansing council members and a Michigan State University professor. The investigation of the political spying was launched after documents linked the police department to the Michigan State Police "Red Squad."

Parolee Gets Two Prison Terms

A Benton Harbor man sentenced to 5 to 20 years in prison in 1972 by Berrien Circuit Judge Chester J. Byrns was sentenced to concurrent prison terms Monday, again by Byrns.

Another person drew a prison term from Judge Zoe S. Burkholz, and 10 persons were arraigned on various charges in circuit court yesterday.

Albert Lee Adams, 22, of 879 Superior St., was sentenced by Byrns to 2½ to 4 years for larceny in a building and 16 to 24 months for resisting arrest.

Adams was charged with stealing a hair curler from Osco Drug store in Benton Township on April 19, and then resisting arrest by Benton Township Patrolman Scott Long. Adams received the 5- to 20-year term in November, 1972, for assault with intent to rob while armed.

Before the sentence was imposed yesterday Adams, still maintaining his innocence, asked the judge to either impose a fine or place him on probation.

"I really have no choice — I cannot consider probation," Byrns replied. "This offense was committed while you were on parole. You threw away a part of your life again.

"I hope we don't see each other again in connection with a conviction," Byrns added while imposing the prison terms.

Judge Zoe S. Burkholz sentenced Duncan Grays, 18, of South Haven, to 16 to 24 months in prison for attempted larceny in a building — the attempted theft of clothing and jewelry from K-mart in Benton Harbor on Sept. 23.

In arraignments before Byrns:

Gerald B. Shank, 18, of 716 S. Third St., and Charles C. Alvord Jr., 19, of 1316 Oak St., both of Niles, both pleaded innocent to charges of open murder and felony murder. The pair is charged in the death of Virginia M. Chew Oct. 14 at 807 N. Third, Niles. Police claim Miss Chew was stabbed to death during a rape.

David A. Neidlinger, 26, of Buchanan, pleaded guilty to attempted uttering and publishing a forged check for $230 June 4 at the Bank of Three Oaks branch in New Buffalo.

Douglas K. McDonald, 31, and Douglas Q. Pletcher, 24, both of Glendora, both pleaded guilty to larceny in a building — the theft of household appliances July 20 from Barentsen Candy Co. in Benton Harbor.

Robert W. Langford, 25, of 328 Broadway, Benton Harbor, pleaded guilty to attempted uttering and publishing a bad check for $100 Sept. 21 at Sears in Benton Harbor.

Sam Michelle, 28, of 252 Bellview, Benton Harbor, pleaded innocent to a charge of resisting arrest by Benton Harbor Lt. Harry Lenardson Sept. 29 in Benton Harbor.

Charles N. Easton, 38, of South Bend, pleaded innocent to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, a piece of lumber, against James F. Wright Sept. 30 in Niles.

Kent E. Jennings, 17, of 806 Jones St., St. Joseph, pleaded guilty to larceny in a building — the theft of beer Oct. 23 from Wilt's food center in Buchanan.

He also pleaded guilty before Judge Burkholz to attempted breaking and entering a motor vehicle in Benton Harbor on June 21.

George Miles, 25, of 270 Urbandale, Benton Township, pleaded guilty to larceny in a building — the theft of cash Oct. 1 from the Quick Mart store on Cleveland Avenue, Lincoln Township.

Van Buren Camp Backers Slate Meeting

BLOOMINGDALE — A special meeting of supporters of the Van Buren Youth Camp near here has been scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 12, at 1 p.m. in the South Haven Episcopal church, Kalamazoo Street, South Haven.

Ralph Patterson, president of the camp's board of directors, said the meeting was being called to consider proposed revisions in articles of incorporation. He said the revisions were being sought for tax purposes.

Sawyer Driver Sentenced

Ronald C. Oldenburg, 27, of Browntown Road, Sawyer, was sentenced to three years probation yesterday in Berrien Circuit Court for negligent homicide. Judge Burkholz also sentenced him to 60 days in jail, but gave him the privilege of day parole. Oldenburg was charged as the driver of a car which crossed the center line of Red Arrow Highway near DeFay Road, Lincoln Township, and struck another auto, killing an occupant in the other car, Michael M. Murrissett of St. Joseph. The accident occurred Sept. 6, 1976.

Welfare Plan Is Questioned

WASHINGTON (AP) — Women on welfare want to work their way out of poverty, participants in a Sex and Poverty seminar say, but they aren't sure President Carter's welfare plan will help.

They said his plan includes no job training money and could force women to take dead-end jobs that pay below-poverty scale wages.

This could then force people back on welfare if the jobs end, Cathy O'Bryant of Camden, N.J., told a news conference Monday.

U.S. May Sell Big Jet Engine To Soviets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration is considering selling the United States' most powerful jet engine to the Soviet Union, congressional sources and Defense Department officials are saying.

Aides to Rep. Paul Tribie, R-Va., said that the General Electric Co. has requested permission from the Commerce Department to export 12 CF-6 engines to Russia for $5.6 million.

Pentagon officials confirmed that "there is such a case" under review and added that the Defense Department has made a recommendation. But the officials declined to say what the Pentagon's position is.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Stocks Gain More

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market gained more ground today, responding to General Motors' declaration of a record fourth quarter dividend.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials rose 1.39 to 817.83 in the first half hour.

Gainers outpaced losers by more than a 2-1 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

At the close Monday GM declared a quarterly payout of $3.25 a share, including an increase in the "regular" dividend from 85 cents to $1.

Analysts said the action, which brought GM's payments this year to $6.80 a share, gave a psychological lift to the overall market since it was seen as an expression of confidence by the nation's second largest industrial corporation.

GM shares, which rose 1½ points on Monday, were steady at 68¾ in early trading today.

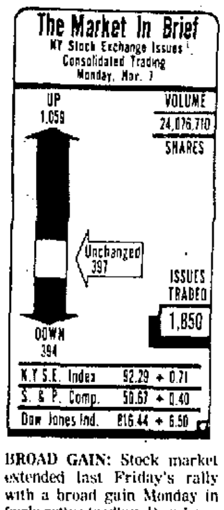
On Monday the Dow Jones industrial average rose 6.50 to 816.44, extending its gain for the past three sessions to 15.59 points.

Advances outnumbered declines by a wide margin on the NYSE.

Big Board volume totaled 21.27 million shares against 21.70 million in the previous session.

The NYSe's composite index picked up .40 to 50.67.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index gained .79 to 113.67.



BROAD GAIN: Stock market extended last Friday's rally with a broad gain Monday in fairly active trading. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 6.50 points at 816.44 after a 7.27-point rise Friday. Analysts noted encouragement over market's rebound last week after it attracted support with the Dow at the 800 level. (AP Wirephoto)

Record Dividend Declared By GM

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. has declared a record $3.25-a-share year-end dividend on outstanding common stock, payable Dec. 10 to shareholders of record Nov. 17.

The dividend includes a regular payment of $1 a share and a special payment of $2.25 per share.

It will bring GM's total 1977 dividend to $6.80 per share, exceeding the prior record of $5.55 set in 1976.

Previous 1977 dividends included 85 cents a share on March 10 and Sept. 10, and $1.85 on June 10, including a special dividend of $1.

GM's board of directors approved the dividend at a meeting in New York.

"The dividend action taken today indicates our confidence that the Administration and the Congress will make progress in providing an economic, legislative and regulatory climate that will minimize current uncertainties and contribute to the attainment of the Administration's objectives of continued economic growth, reduced inflation and higher employment, with fairness to all," said Thomas Murphy, GM chairman, and Elliott Estes, president.

They said the new regular quarterly dividend of $1 per share compared with the prior rate of 85 cents, which was in effect from 1966 to 1974 and restored in September 1976.

Two weeks ago, GM reported record third-quarter earnings of $402 billion and record nine-month earnings of $2.4 billion.

The directors also declared a regular quarterly dividend of $1.25 per share on the $5 series preferrede stock and 94 cents a share on the $3.75 series preferred stock payable Feb. 1 to stockholders of record Jan. 9.

New Chief At Sears

CHICAGO (AP) — Sears, Roebuck & Co. has named a veteran employe, Edward R. Telling, 58, to be its next chairman and chief executive officer, effective Feb. 1.

Telling will become the 10th chairman in the giant retailing firm's 91-year history, replacing Arthur M. Wood, who turns 65 in January and will retire under the company's mandatory policy.

Viewed as a tough administrator, Telling joined Sears as a trainee in his native downstate Danville in 1946 and has been a senior executive vice president since February 1976.

Ronny Zamora Gets Life In Prison

MIAMI (AP) — Ronny Zamora, who was defended in a murder trial on grounds that television violence drove him insane, stood silent before the TV cameras that recorded his sentencing to life in prison.

Judge Paul Baker brushed aside sentencing advice from famed psychiatrist Karl Menninger and others on Monday as he sentenced the 15-year-old to a minimum 25 years in jail.

Defense attorney Ellis Rubin, in his final plea for leniency for Zamora, waved psychiatric reports and even petitions from schoolmates in front of Baker.

Baker interrupted, saying: "I've even had a letter from Dr. Karl Menninger. But it is not their business. Unfortunately, it is mine."

Zamora's trial and sentencing were open to television and still camera coverage under a one-year experiment ordered by the Florida Supreme Court.

Before sentencing the teenager in the murder of his 81-year-old neighbor, Elinor Haggart, Baker offered Zamora a chance to make a statement to the court. But Zamora stood silent and the judge went ahead with sentencing.

Baker said Zamora should be placed in a "youthful offender facility" where he could receive psychiatric help. Rubin had pleaded that Zamora was "sick" and "suicidal" and should not go to an adult prison.

Watching impassively was Darrell Agrella, 15, who faces a separate trial on the same charge. Agrella's lawyer is challenging the grand jury selection system in the other case.

AFTER SENTENCE: Convicted murderer Ronny Zamora, 15, wipes his hands after being fingerprinted in the courtroom immediately after being sentenced to life in prison Monday in Miami, Fla. Zamora was subject of much-publicized "TV Insanity" trial in September. (AP Wirephoto)

Zamora's mother sat nearby, wiping tears from her eyes.

During the trial Rubin asserted that the teen-ager lost his ability to judge right from wrong because he had become lost in a make-believe world kept alive by TV violence.

Rubin attempted to have the case thrown out Monday on several points. He said that the prosecution had arranged for two witnesses to talk to one another on the phone and had other witnesses listen to a tape of their conversation. But Baker ruled that the prosecution tactic, while not a good one, was not grounds to throw out the case.

After the sentencing Rubin said he had received permission from the parents to bring a lawsuit against the three major television networks. He said he hoped to show the effect television violence has on children.

"We feel we will be able to prove the networks are responsible for inducing young people to adopt violence as a way of life," he said.

Nuke Test Ban Accord Closer

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Soviet offer to halt so-called "peaceful" nuclear explosions probably will lead to a treaty banning all underground tests, a high-level Carter administration official says.

But the treaty will fall short of Kremlin desires in at least one area, he said. The United States will reject a previously unrevealed facet of the offer, a Soviet request for an understanding that testing for civilian purposes be allowed to resume in three years or so.

Even without that concession by the United States, however, the Soviets are expected to agree to a ban.

In fact, the official said, the Russians had no major experiments planned during that three-year period anyway.

The Russians have tested underground nuclear explosions for such projects as reversing the courses of rivers. For years, they wanted these blasts to be allowed even while prohibiting underground weapons tests.

But administration arms experts say the distinction between a "peaceful" and a military test is difficult to verify. Beyond that, they say, it is almost impossible to separate military benefits derived from such a test from the peaceful benefits.

For these reasons, the United States — unsuccessfully until now — has pushed for an accord with the Russians banning both kinds of explosions.

Killer Fulfills Wish For His Execution

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Daniel Webster told the world he wanted to die for the murder of his wife, but nobody who knew him expected the death row inmate to perform the execution himself. "He had two things that were strictly no-no — blasphemy and suicide," said Sam Garrison, warden of Central Prison in Raleigh where Webster was taken after his murder trial last month and where he died Sunday night. Webster was found on the floor of his cell, bleeding profusely from slash wounds in his left arm and neck which he apparently inflicted on himself with a razor blade. He died minutes later in the prison hospital.

"He indicated to me that there was just no way in the world he could commit suicide," said Garrison, who said that Webster had become a Bible reader since the murder. Garrison ruled out murder. "He was in a single cell with double locks."

"He knowed he would go to hell if he did commit suicide after killing Gladys," said Webster's mother-in-law, Ethel Beauchamp, 76. "Something was eating on him." Webster, 51, had pleaded guilty to the grisly ax murder of his wife, Gladys.
